Meet the Real Kamala Harris

By Steve Baldwin, former Congressman, State of California
Contributed by Franklin Motte, Moreno Valley CA

"I watched an interview with her. She is attractive, animated and absurd. She stated that she never had children; yet was a "Mother to her husband's children." And she "loved being a Mother." She said the children called her "Momela". Anyway, she led her audience to believe that she mothered these kids. I looked her up. She married her husband when the son was in his 3rd year of college and the daughter was in 10th grade and they actually lived with their biological Mother, except for normal visits with their father—so much for Motherhood.

Right after hearing that, I discovered she was an opportunistic liar.

She is beating Pence in the Current ratings for VP.

I do remember Kamala Harris. I had just been elected to the State Assembly in 1994 and, at that time, the ultimate "power broker" that controlled every aspect of California's state government was the Speaker of the House, Willie Brown. He ran Sacramento like it was his own personal fiefdom and handed out jobs to loyalists and fired people who were disloyal. He broke every ethical law in the book, but was never held to account by anyone. He was married, but openly had mistresses which he showed off by bringing them to public events.

At the time I arrived in Sacramento, Willie was seeing a young girl who was in her late 20's. He was in his 60's. She was his mistress and he showered her with gifts and appointed her to a number of State government jobs. Her name was Kamala Harris. Willie launched her political career because she was having sex with him. The idea that she is an "independent" woman who worked her way up the political ladder because she worked hard is baloney. It is common knowledge in California that Kamala slept her way into powerful political jobs.

And now she is running for VP with a man who will be unable to govern due to his lack of mental clarity.

In essence, she will function as the President of the United States should the Biden/Harris ticket prevail this November. Her views on guns, taxes, immigration, energy, etc. are far to the left of the average America, but you watch the media ignore these positions.

For example, she believes illegal aliens are eligible to ALL government services, including education, welfare benefits, health care, you name it. In other words, she does NOT believe there is a difference between a citizen and a non-citizen. That view alone will cost us billions of dollars if acted upon. Her view of the constitution is frankly bizarre and dangerous and she is willing to enact laws restricting our 2nd Amendment rights even if such laws violate our constitution.

She will be the most radical person to run for VP in American history, but you won't see any of this on the news. You will soon witness a massive campaign by the media to deceive you about who she is and what she believes. Don't fall for it."

Also, Read "Profiles in Corruption" by Peter Schweizer. He dedicates an entire chapter to Kamala Harris.

California Takes First Step to Legalize Pedophilia!

My View By Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.

Senate Bill-145 was introduced by state Senator Scott Wiener (D), an openly gay man. SB-145 will prevent gay adults who sodomize or perform oral sex with underage teenagers from being automatically assigned to California's sex offender registry.

Call it whatever you want, it is still pedophilia. "If it walks like a duck, looks like a duck and quacks like one, it's a duck."

LGBT is not and should not be equated with pedophilia. Any sexual act with a minor child is defined as pedophilia and is a very serious crime and should not be decriminalized.

The legislation calls for a judge to use discretion on assigning an individual to the sex offender registry if their victim was between the ages of 14 to 17 and the age difference between the offender and the victim is less than 10 years.

The California Socialist Democratic supermajority General Assembly has passed this legislation that could ease the criminal punishment for LGBT adults who have sex with underage teenagers.

SB-145 passed the California state Senate by a 23-10 vote and passed the Assembly by a 41-18 vote.

Wiener claims the bill "eliminates discrimination against LGBTQ youth in our criminal justice system."

How on earth does allowing pedophiles to prey on our children eliminate anything but their protection?

SB-145 is headed to the desk of Gov. Gavin Newsom (D), where it will likely be signed into law.

What did the opposition say? State Rep. Lorena Gonzalez, a Democrat, said, "I cannot in my mind as a mother understand how sex between a 24-year-old and a 14-year-old could ever be consensual, how it could ever not be a registrable offense. We should never give up on this idea that children should be in no way subject to a predator."

Wiener is also responsible for legislation that lowered the criminal penalty for knowingly transmitting HIV from a felony to a misdemeanor.

The California Socialist Democrats appear to be following the strategies as set out by Karl Marx to bring about change by small increments and without rising awareness of the general public.

So what protections do our children have against these pedophiles? The people of California must be given the opportunity to vote on SB-145 that puts minor children at more risk from child molester. My bet is that it would be rejected by a 10 to 1 margin by the voters.

This insanity is beyond political or ethnic lines and must be stopped or we will wake up in the not so distant future under Socialist quarantine without any rights or freedom.

Call your State Senator and Assembly Rep. - Ask them how they voted on SB-145. If they voted for it, ask why. Of the 92 legislators 64 voted for SB-145.

Friday, Sept. 25, 2020. Groundbreaking Ceremony for the American Indian Veterans Memorial at the Riverside National Cemetery (RNC). The ceremony begins at 9:00 a.m.

A Book Review: Murder State: California's Native American Genocide, 1846-1873

Source: Shayne's Journal #4758 * September 3, 2020 - By: Steven Newcomb August 10, 2012 * Steven Newcomb (Shawnee, Lenape) is the co-founder and co-director of the Indigenous Law Institute, author of Pagans in the Promised Land: Decoding the Doctrine of Christian Discovery, and the Indigenous and Kumeyaay Research Coordinator for the Sycuan Band of the Kumeyaay Nation.

Once in a while a book comes along that is transformative. Murder State, by Brendan Lindsay, is such a book. Recently released by University of Nebraska Press, Murder State is heart wrenching and deeply informative.

I see it as one of the most important works ever published on the history of American Indians in California in the mid-nineteenth century. It ranks up there with David Stannard's 1992 masterpiece American Holocaust, in the context of overall Indian history.

Lindsay uses the UN Genocide Convention, Rafael Lemkin (who coined the term "genocide"), and genocide studies as key aspects of his framework of analysis.

He has provided a meticulously detailed and comprehensive account of the murderous treatment of the original peoples of California by Euro-Americans who poured onto Indian lands during the gold rush days.

White citizen groups utilized democratic processes as a means of committing genocide against the original nations and peoples of California. It was methodical, it was well-planned and it was well-executed—with lethal and ghastly results.

For the sake of dead cattle, sometimes killed by starving Indians, and often for the sake of dead cattle not killed by Indians at all, thousands of Indians were wantonly murdered.

Vigilante groups were democratically formed, financed by local citizens, to hunt Indians down and kill them as if they were animals.

The lives of cattle were deemed much more valuable than the lives of Indians, who were considered to be a nuisance that needed to be removed permanently, "by death or deportation," so the whites could help themselves to the valuable Indian lands and resources.

It was all done in the spirit of the Manifest Destiny, yet, ironically at times a few U.S. Army officers tried to defend Indian people, to no avail.

During that time, the kidnapping and rape of Indian women was treated as a sport or a readily available form of entertainment for white men who could not be punished for such egregious conduct under white laws.

The kidnapping of surviving Indian children by whites was rampant. Forced Indian labor became a way of life to fuel the white economy.

In the chapter "Advertising Genocide," Lindsay recounts the description of the Indian Island Massacre, as published in Northern Californian Union in 1860, by a twenty-four year old newspaper guest editor named Francis Bret Harte.

Lindsay states that "Since the women and children were unarmed, the volunteers mostly saved their ammunition, instead hacking them to death with axes and knives." Harte, the guest editor, explained what happened to Wiyot people under a doctrine of extermination:

Little children and old women were mercilessly stabbed and their skulls crushed with axes.... Old women wrinkled and decrepit lay weltering in their blood, their brains dashed out and dabbled with their long grey hair.

Infants scarce a span long, with their faces cloven with hatchets and their bodies ghastly with wounds.... No resistance was made, it is said to the butchers who did the work, but as they ran or huddled together for protection like sheep, they were struck down with hatchets. Very little shooting was done, most of the bodies having wounds about the head.

Lindsay goes on to explain that because he "tried to demonstrate the monstrosity of Euro-American actions, Harte seemed to local people to be a traitor to his own race."

A grand jury convened to look into the matter ended its proceedings without concluding anything. "No evidence existed, the jurors claimed, to bring charges."

Lindsay explains that one editor of the Humboldt Times claimed that people who "lamented the massacre" and "shed crocodile tears over the poor Indians" were "fools."

In his preface, Lindsay explains that during his seven years of graduate work, and as a university lecturer, "I encountered many students colleagues, and faculty unwilling to accept the argument that genocide had been committed upon Native Americans in California and the United States during the nineteenth century."

Such people had the impression, he explains, "that the tremendous loss of lives was instead an unintended consequence or even a necessary evil of the advance of Western civilization or national progress."

That the history of the treatment of Indian nations and peoples is a history of domination, dehumanization, and genocide is the inevitable conclusion to draw after reading Murder State.

As Peter H. Burnett, governor of California put it in an 1852 "Address to the Legislature":

That a war of extermination will continue to be waged between the two races until the Indian race becomes extinct, must be expected; while we cannot anticipate this result with but painful regret, the inevitable destiny of the race is beyond the power and wisdom of man to avert.

When the carnage was over, white Euro-Americans had successfully reduced the Indian population of California by some 90 percent. Some scholars have brilliantly referred to history as "a history of the present."

The genocide unleashed on the Indians of California in the nineteenth century is a key aspect of that history of the present. One of the lessons we can bring away after reading Mr. Lindsay's book is that genocide is the wider historical context of contemporary issues in California and elsewhere, issues such as Indian nation sovereignty, land into trust, water, and the taxation of Indian nations by two institutional perpetrators and beneficiaries of that genocide, the state of California, and the federal government of the United States.

Geronimo Surrenders, September 4, 1886

Source: Shayne's Journal September 7, 2020 #4760

In the photo above Geronimo is pictured on the far right. He was born June 16, 1829 and died February 17, 1909. He is buried at the Apache Indian Prisoner of War Cemetery at Fort Sill, Oklahoma

It was on September 4, 1886 that Geronimo, the last major American Indian warrior, surrendered after 30-years of fighting in Arizona.

The Apaches had largely been defeated by American troops. Their chief, Cochise, was dead, and the U.S. government forced them to live on a barren reservation in San Carlos, Arizona.

But Geronimo organized a group of warriors to fight one last war of resistance. He fought for five years, and many military historians believe he was one of the most brilliant guerrilla warfare strategists in history.

He started out with a group of about 700 men, women, and children. He surrendered his forces twice, but each time he managed to escape. For the last five months of the campaign, Geronimo led a band of only 37 warriors, pursued by 5,000 U.S. soldiers for five months without being captured.

But Geronimo and his men finally got tired of living in the mountains, and so they surrendered on this 4th day of September 1886 in a place called Skeleton Canyon.

He was essentially a prisoner of war for the rest of his life, but he was allowed to travel around the country, and he made a living by selling the buttons off his jacket and autographed photos of himself.

He appeared at an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, but he never saw Arizona again.

Navajo Nation Vice President, Myron Lizer Speaks at GOP National Convention

Source: Indian Country Today By Kolby KickingWoman

Navajo Nation Vice President Myron Lizer opened Night Two of the Republican National Convention, endorsing President Donald Trump for the 2020 election.

Speaking in pre-recorded remarks from Shiprock, New Mexico, Lizer ran through a list of accomplishments the president has achieved for Indian Country in his first term. The Navajo Nation second-in-command said it wasn't until Trump came into office that Indian Country had a true seat at the table.

"Our people have never been invited into the American dream," Lizer said Tuesday. "We, for years, fought congressional battles with past congressmen and senators that were part of a broken system that ignored us."

Lizer said Trump has made it a priority to repair the federal government's relationship with the Navajo Nation and credited Trump with delivering the "largest financial funding package ever to Indian Country" with the CARES Act.

Lizer praised the president for the establishment of "Operation Lady Justice," a White House task force addressing missing and slain American Indians and Alaska Natives, as well as for funding to improve public safety and support crime victims in Native communities.

Lizer was present in the Oval Office at the signing of the executive order establishing the task force.

Lizer also applauded Trump for reactivating the White House Council on Native American Affairs and for his judicial appointments.

"President Trump also strengthened the Supreme Court by nominating strong conservative judges like Neil Gorsuch, who supports Native American rights," Lizer said. Being the lone Native voice thus far at the convention, Lizer closed his remarks with a ringing endorsement for the president in the upcoming election.

"Thank you for the opportunity to be here tonight. I'm excited to endorse President Trump's reelection. And, Mr. President, we look forward to hosting you very soon."

Last week, Navajo Nation President Jonathan Nez appeared with several other Democrats in a virtual keynote address at the Democratic convention.

California Socialist Governor Makes Worshiping God Illegal

My View: Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.

California's authoritarian Socialist Democrat Governor, Gavin Newsom has made holding church services essentially illegal under his coronavirus restriction orders. He has continue to persecute pastors and churches providing the framework for other Extreme-leftist Democrat Leaders Come Against Christians across the United States.

In the Marxist state of California one pastor is now facing years in prison. Pastor Che Ahn of Harvest Rock Church in Pasadena might soon be preaching from a jail cell.

The city prosecutor told the pastor and congregation that he plans to press criminal charges against the entire congregation for worshipping. "All of these are violations of the law," prosecutor Michael Dowd wrote in a letter.

Your compliance with these orders is not discretionary, it is mandatory," Dowd wrote. "Each day in violation is a separate violation and carries with it a potential punishment of up to one year in jail and a fine for each violation."

"Any violations in the future will subject your church, owners, administrators, operators, staff and parishioners to the above-mentioned criminal penalties as well as the potential closure of your church," Dowd wrote. "Your future compliance is expected."

The city of Pasadena also said they will arrest the entire congregation if it comes down to it. Will they be forced to wear an identifying Yellow Cross sewn on their clothing? How will the members of the church be transported? Will their children be placed in protective custody?

Democrat Newsom also demands that indoor church services be banned, as well as singing and reciting prayers.

Even having Bible studies in your own home is forbidden.

The Nations Socialist Democrat controlled states are beginning to resemble communist China way more than the United States of America.

Is California Governor Newsom and his Socialist partners using the coronavirus crisis as Adolf Hitler used the Enabling Act in 1933 to give their dictatorship the appearance of legality?

Mat Staver, the founder of Liberty Counsel, has taken on legal defense of the Harvest Rock Church and plans to fight against the California Socialist Democrat leaders violations of the constitutional rights of the Christians.

"Criminal activity," Staver said on The Todd Starnes Radio Show. "Let that sink in. You can face up to one year in prison and if you do it again and don't stop, another year in prison. That is stunning that this is happening in the United States of America."

"The same prosecutor has turned a blind eye to the thousands of protests that have paraded the streets and caused damage in the city of Pasadena," he said.

But if anyone is paying attention this scenario is being played out throughout the Socialist/Democrat state.

The list is endless of the number of American citizens that are being charge with criminal offences for exercising their Constitutional rights. In way of example is the couple in Missouri who were charged with felonies for protecting their property and lives. Another example is the number of people arrested for praying across the street from an abortion center.

How can any of this be legal? How can rioter, looter and anarchist be allowed to assemble by the thousands and cause millions of dollars in damages but law abiding citizens are not permitted to pray?

The answer is obvious, if you support the extremist Socialist you are "Above the Law" but no one wants to "offend" anyone and be labeled a "Racist" or be physically attacked.

America or Communist China? It is getting to the point where Christians need to take a stand or forever give up their freedoms. "You might be able to padlock the doors, but you can't padlock the Gospel," Staver said.

How do you fight back? On November 3, 2020 the future of America will be decided. Will America remain a free Country or will the dictatorship of the Socialist Democrats be complete.

You can vote for freedom, law and order and getting back to work or allow the Socialist/Democrats to transforming American into a Communist Marxist Country.

Sen. Kamala Harris's 'Catholic Problem'

By Catholic League President, Dr. Bill Donohue

Sen. Kamala Harris's (D-CA) 'Catholic problem' is exposed by Catholic League President Bill Donohue in an essay, insisting that Biden's running mate will have a hard time winning over Catholic voters due to her "positions on an array of moral issues."

As a radical supporter of abortion rights, Harris has alienated pro-life voters, but she has gone further still, tainting herself "with the brush of anti-Catholicism," Dr. Donohue states.

"In 2018, she sought to stop a Trump nominee for a seat on the federal bench simply because he was Catholic," Donohue notes. "In doing so, she invoked a religious test for the bench, a patently unconstitutional act."

As Michael Gerson parrots in an op-ed in the Washington Post, Harris posed a series of "inappropriate questions" to federal district court nominee Brian Buescher, suggesting that "being a member of the Knights of Columbus — a nearly 2 million-member Catholic social and charitable organization — was disqualifying for the federal bench."

"Harris was effectively treating membership in a distinctly Catholic organization as if it were allegiance to a hate group," Gerson writes.

As Donohue notes, Harris's stated objection to the Knights of Columbus stemmed from its unapologetic pro-life position. "In short, her real target was the Catholic Church," he states.

Harris also "bludgeoned" pro-life activist David Daleiden for his undercover er videos showing how abortion operatives harvest and sell aborted fetal organs," Donohue added, insisting that there should be no restrictions whatsoever on abortion.

"She is so pro-abortion that in 2015, in her capacity as California's Attorney General, she sought to cripple crisis pregnancy centers with draconian regulations," Donohue writes. "She was sued and lost in the Supreme Court three years later."

Along with her rabid pro-abortion activism, Harris has also worked hard to curb religious freedom, co-sponsoring "The Equality Act," which would effectively "gut Catholic hospitals," he adds.

Harris is also a vocal supporter of same-sex marriage and transgender rights, arguing that biological males who think they are girls should be allowed to compete in sports against real girls, he states.

While Harris's own stepchildren attended an elite private school in Los Angeles, she has vigorously opposed school choice, which would give underprivileged children the same opportunity.

Curiously, Harris said last year that she believed those who accused Biden of sexual assault, which would lead not only Catholics but all right thinking people to wonder why she has chosen to hitch her wagon to a man she believes to be a sexual predator, Donohue quips.

Fort Hood, Texas Second Navajo Soldier Dies

Source: Indian Country Today

Indian Country Today reported on September 5, 2020 that Pvt. Corlton L. Chee is he second Navajo soldier to die at Fort Hood this year. Chee of Pinehill, New Mexico died after collapsing on his 25th birthday during a training exercise.

The Navajo nation provided the first details that a second Navajo man had died at the troubled Fort Hood U.S. Army Base, Texas.

Pvt. Corlton L. Chee, 25, died September 2, 2020 after collapsing following physical training exercises on August 28, 2020.

He was initially transported to Carl R. Darnall Medical Center and later transferred to Baylor Scott and White in Temple, Texas, on August 30, 2020 where Army officials said he died with his family by his side.

Chee was the father of two sons, including a newborn. He was planning to get married and finally meet his now 3-week-old son, Carma Johnson, his older sister, told Stars and Stripes.

Spc. Miguel D. Yazzie, a Navajo citizen died at the Fort Hood Army Base on July 3, 2020. No cause of death was listed.

The Navajo Tribal administration expressed its concern that a cause of death wasn't listed.

at the Fort Hood Army Base, Texas The tribe's statement noted Yazzie served as an Air Defense Enhanced Early Warning System operator and was previously stationed in South Korea. The Navajo administration says the families of both soldiers suspect foul play may have contributed to their deaths.

"We spoke with the families of Pvt. Chee and Spc. Yazzie and they have many concerns and questions related to inconsistent information and details provided by military officials," Navajo Nation President Jonathan Nez said.

"It is very troubling that while they are mourning the loss of their loved ones, they are not receiving adequate and timely factual information regarding the time leading up to their deaths."

The tribe released another statement, saying Navajo Nation Speaker Seth Damon had spoken with Major General John B. Richardson IV, commander of the Fort Hood Army post.

"We're shocked," Johnson said, "There's so many things that could have happened that we've waited for that did not happen, and that's breaking our hearts right now."

EDITORS NOTE: After 28 deaths at the base, congress plans to investigate. Sure glad they're on top of it. Ernie C. Salgado Jr.

The George Soros Socialist America

This is Real Folks & Terrifying - Their in No Way Anyone Can Make this Insanity Up!

Law enforcement officers have to consider if looters "needed" the stolen merchandise before charging them, according to new guidance issued by leftist lunatic Diana Becton, the first-term Costa County District Attorney supported by George Soros, the far-left, anti American billionaire.

Just to show how whacked out she is, when a couple painted over the Marxist Black Lives Matter (BLM) message on the street in front of the Wakefield Taylor Courthouse, the office of the District Attorney in Contra Costa County, Becton, charged them with a "hate crime."

Stealing is fine so long as the thief needed what he stole, but painting over a Marxist group's propaganda message is a hate crime. Only in the minds of the Socialist Democrats.

Here's the statement where the Contra County DA' office charged the couple with a "hate crime." A hate crime!

How insane is it that as looters are caught stealing things while BLM riots are taking place in the same exact county, Costa County's District Attorney has a completely different take on how to apply "justice."

Rather than charging them with a felony, this Soros-funded DA is telling police officers to consider if the looters "needed" the stolen merchandise before arresting them.

"Did you need that those twenty cartons of cigarettes you stole from the convenience store?"

"Why, yes, officer, I did."

Soros-funded Socialist DA's explain their Marxist ideology and 11-point plan to basically destroy America's legal system and our freedom.

Diana Becton a first-term District Attorney, is one among numerous radical district attorneys supported by George Soros. Soros gives thousands of dollars in donations to get progressive leftist politicians elected in District Attorney races so that they can radically change the legal system from the inside by simply changing the interpretation of the law without any oversight or congressional approval.

The same strategies are being used by the Soros funded judges as well, We saw the same thing from radical Soros-funded St. Louis Circuit Attorney Kim Gardner, who charged Mark and Patricia McCloskey for defending themselves with legally owned firearms after a BLM mob broke through a locked gate and stormed onto private property during a riot.

And to make matters even more bizarre the gun Patricia was holding during the terrorist siege on their property was declared non-operable by the crime lab and was proven to have been used as a prop in a different court case. But that didn't stop Gardner, she order them to fix it so that it was operable and entered it into evidence against Mrs. McCloskey. In most places in America that is a serious crime, its called tampering with the evidence.

Then there was Chicago's Kim Foxx, the State's Attorney for Cook County, Illinois, another Soros-funded radical progressive who out of the blue just dropped the Jussie Smollett hate crime hoax case against the actor/singer who apparently setup his own hate crime causing all kinds of racial tensions across the country, not to mention costing Chicago police thousands in overtime pay to solve the hoax.

According to RedState, as quickly as Becton took over as district attorney, she carried out major changes in the way the office was run and in how crimes were charged and how aggressively cases have been prosecuted. One recent change has to do with charging people for "looting," which is basically stealing during a state of emergency, you know, like a riot?

Would it shock you to learn that Becton is close friends with Gardner and Foxx? This week she co-authored a Politico op-ed with Gardner, Foxx, and two more Soros funded DA's explain their Marxist ideology and 11-point plan to basically destroy America's legal system and our freedom.

In California, a looting charge essentially increases the severity of a burglary or theft charge if it occurred during a State of Emergency

Do you see what they're doing? A state's primary duty is to protect their people and private property, especially during a state of emergency.

Yet, these radical progressive Marxists in power are trying to give criminals a pass, and during a critical time for a community.

So, they want cops to have to look up a chart to see if they should arrest people who steal that will consist of them evaluating the thief's psychological and financial status beforehand.

Do they not realize these types of dopey rules will be a magnet for theft? A riot breaks out and criminals jump for joy, because Christmas came early.

It appears that "Equal Justice" means only if you are agree with the Marxist ideology are you exempt and if not you will be charged with violations of the law as redefined by them.

Welcome to the Soros, Biden and Harris Socialist America.

But hey, we can always blame it on Trump since he believers America is the greatest Country in the world. And all Americans are equal.

And if that's not enough for you he also believes in free speech, the right own a gun, freedom of religion and the rights of the individual as provided for in the Constitution of the United States of America.

Tribal Economics 101 "Money, Credit and Spending"

Shayne's Journal is a daily blog posted by Shayne Del Cohen, PhD

With Age of Information now firmly entrenched in our consciousness, we need to reexamine our thoughts on labor and capital which leads to production, supply chains, delivery of goods and services that when combined what may be called our economy.

What is an economy? Dictionary definitions include "the structure or conditions of economic life in a country, area, or period", "thrifty and efficient use of material resources", "efficient and concise use of nonmaterial resources (such as effort, language, or motion), "a system especially of interaction and exchange"....

Money, generally, is the medium of exchange in the modern world but do you ever barter? For instance, instead of paying a quarter for a youngster to dispose of the household garbage, do you say or does he/she understand that he/she must function within the household circle to survive?

Economic pundits used to say that if a dollar turned over seven times within a community before leaving, one had a vibrant and strong economy.

In a time some of us can still remember, there was the emphasis on self-help housing. Despite the feds supplying materials and construction expertise (funds which would go off-res), a prospective owner provided the labor and earned a "sweat equity" in the structure, thus having direct some direct acquisition of capital upon sale or application for loan, the dollars of which they would spend in the community.

A more contemporary memory/model to dissect are the casinos.

Yes people got jobs and for those that were entrepreneurial or for those whose leadership understood real economic development, the thrifty ones saved some of their (lower strata) salaries to start small businesses that provided goods and services to that casino, thus beginning to put another tier in the circulation of the dollar coming in.

In other words a casino patron comes into the facility and spends a dollar. Where does it go? In most cases it goes straight to the casino treasury.

Management spends part of that dollar for purchasing goods and services that make that operation run:

printing, toilet tissue, food, slot machines, keno markers, accounting firms, lawyers and lobbyists, laundry....etc. Where are these purchased? From vendors off-reservation so that dollar has come in and gone right out.

Another portion of that dollar does go to staff, many who are tribal members and reservation residents. They may pay their water bill and housing costs to a tribal entity, putting some diversion into the dispersal of that dollar, but most of it is again spent off-res unless the community has developed commercial entities they can patronize so you have only seen that incoming dollar turn over two or three times before it leaves town.

The last sizable portion goes to management as profit income. For tribes that have management partnerships, 20 to 40 percent of that dollar goes to professional gamers who, again, are not going to recirculate that dollar within the local tribal community. For tribes that self-manage their gaming operation, dispersal of profit is either in facility reinvestment, again mostly to off-res vendors or into financial markets that give other entities use of their dollars for loans, purchase of other assets, etc.

Tribes that pay "per capita" may provide a level of local circulation, but, again, where does it go? Are there mechanisms to capture a third and fourth tier?

In this case, turnover of three times is not a charm; if seven is the goal, four would be a homer at this point. Take a dollar out of your pocket and see how many times it reaches other hands before leaving the res.

Oneida cyclist is first Native in Tour de France

Source: Indian Country Today

Neilson Powless of Roseville, California, is riding with American team EF Pro Cycling

The first Native American to compete in the Tour de France celebrated his 24th birthday in style.

The Roseville, California, cyclist is riding with the American professional team Education First Pro Cycling.

"Best. Birthday. EVER," Powless said in a Sept. 3 tweet that included

EF Pro Cycling congratulating him on his finish.

Powless comes from a highly successful athletic family, according to the Sacramento Bee.

His sister, Shayna Powless, is also a professional cyclist, his mother ran the marathon in the 1992 Olympics, and his father was a successful triathlete.

"We're just so, so excited for him," Neilson's dad, Jack Powless, told the newspaper. "It was a lifelong dream for him."

California:

Trump Approves Tule River-Tulare County Gaming Accord

MY VIEW: Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.

The Tule River Tribe near the city of Porterville in central California moved another step closer toward relocating its casino to a new location.

The tribe just entered into a memorandum of understanding and intergovernmental agreement with Tulare County. The government-to-government documents were approved by the board of supervisors on January 7, 2020 according to The Sun-Gazette.

The agreement was made possible by the approval of the Trump administration recognizing the Tribal sovereignty by authorizing the government-to-government documents.

Plans call for the Tule River Tribe's Eagle Mountain Casino to be moved to a more accessible 40-acre site near the Porterville Airport Industrial Park.

Moving the casino "would be in the best interest of the tribe and not detrimental to the surrounding community," Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs Tara Sweeney, the Trump official who oversees the Bureau of Indian Affairs, told members of the National Congress of American Indians during the organization's 76th annual convention last October.

But Sweeney's decision isn't the end of the story. Under the two-part determination provisions of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, California Gov. Gavin Newsom (D) must also approve the project, which has been in the works for more than a decade.

"I sent the secretarial determination over to Gov. Newsom for his concurrence," Sweeney said at NCAI.

"A decision to acquire the approximately 40-acre parcel into federal trust will be made at a later date – when Gov. Newsom concurs with the secretarial determination," Sweeney added.

Newsom hasn't said whether he will approve the two-part determination. But the approval of the new agreements bolsters the tribe's case, given that the county and the city of Porterville support the effort.

"The Tribe is looking forward to the relocation of the Eagle Mountain Casino and intends to continue its long-standing history of investing in the local community," Chairman Neil Peyron said in a press release. "Securing the support of the County through this MOU will hopefully help fast track the approval of our project."

In the 31-year history of IGRA, only a handful of tribes have secured approval to open a casino under the two-part determination provisions of the law. Two are in California, where the Estom Yumeka Maidu Tribe of the Enterprise Rancheria just opened the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Sacramento at Fire Mountain last October following years of controversy and litigation.

The North Fork Rancheria of Mono Indians won the second two-part determination approval. Litigation and controversy have kept the tribe's project from moving forward.

However, some of the gaming tribes that are geographically better located near larger populated areas giving them better access are not supportive of the legal precedents set by these actions.

Because of their financial presents these tribes have been successful in halting the more isolated tribes from gaining access to the lucrative gaming market.

Weather Governor Newsom will approve the Tule River-Tulare County Gaming Accord or side with the more finically and politically powerful gaming tribes is still a unknown.

My guess is that he will stall from making a decision until after the first of the year and when no one is paying attention and find a reason to deny the measure.

I pray I'm wrong for many reasons, mainly because it strengthens tribal sovereignty but given the powerful political influence of many of the gaming tribe in protecting their share of the current gaming market it would appear to be the most logical decision.

Tribal leaders still don't get it. The Democrats do not want the tribes to become totally self-sustained and self-governed because without the dependency of the tribes on the state and federal government they have no power over them.

What many of the tribal leader have seemed to have missed is President Trump policy of "...teach a man to fish," by removing barriers such as prohibitive regulation that have prevented tribes from self determination through economic development.

Dependency on government along with prohibitive policies and regulations that apply only to tribes have prevented he tribes from economic prosperity.

The Socialist State of California

NO ON PROP 15

Our neighborhood small family businesses – restaurants, gyms, barbershops, nail salons, and workers – are doing everything our Socialist-Democrat Governor Newsom has requested in the effort to slow the pandemic.

But now, Prop 15 threatens to drive up costs for small family businesses at a time when they are already struggling just to stay afloat. The $11+ billion-a-year property tax hike will raise rents for small businesses so high that many won't survive and will have to shut their doors... forever. Causing more jobs to be lost.

We need your help again!

Small family businesses did their part to fight the pandemic. Now, it's our turn to help #SaveSmallBusiness.
