Busted: FBI Corroborates $10M Bribery Scheme Involving Joe Biden

The FBI has reportedly corroborated parts of a trusted informant's story that a Ukrainian oligarch bribed Joe Biden and his son Hunter with $10 million, RadarOnline.com has learned. The informant, who was interviewed by the FBI in 2020, alleged that Mykola Zlochevsky - the owner of the Ukrainian gas firm Burisma - admitted to a scheme that involved bribing both President Biden and Hunter with $5 million each.

These bombshell allegations were first unearthed by the Pittsburgh FBI office, Daily Mail exclusively reported, which was assigned the task of investigating potential Biden family corruption.

According to an insider to the probe, FBI agents were able to verify some details of the informant's story and provided new information about how the allegations of the bribery scheme were uncovered.

The informant claimed that Zlochevsky told them about alleged payments of $5 million each to Hunter and Joe Biden to both halt a Ukrainian criminal investigation into him and secure favorable treatment for his Burisma company.

The FBI informant alleged that the Bidens allegedly met with Zlochevsky at Burisma's office in Kyiv in late 2015 or early 2016, in Vienna in early 2016, and shared a phone call with him shortly after the 2016 presidential election.

MY VIEW: Will he get a sweet-heart deal like Hunter? Or will the FBI take a hammer to the evidence like it did for Hillary? Or will he get a pass from the DOJ due to the lack of evidence? Will he still get the 80 million vote? Even though he has a 67% approval rating?

In other words don't get your hopes up because the system is corrupt to the core. And let's not forget that he has been doing this for over 50-years. Top of his class.

Please accept my apology for my cynicism as most of this information has been known for over 2 years.

Burisma CEO bragged it would take '10 years' to find records showing 'illicit payments to Joe Biden': FBI source

The CEO of Bursima Holdings, a Ukrainian energy company that hired Hunter Biden, told a confidential FBI source that it would take investigators over ten years to find records of illicit payments to President Joe Biden, according to an FBI report released by Congress on Thursday. (July 20, 2023) Burisma Holdings, which was previously under investigation by Ukraine's Prosecutor-General Viktor Shokin - until Shokin was fired allegedly at Joe Biden's behest in 2016 - had hired Hunter to join its board of directors at a salary of $50,000 per month, despite having no experience in the energy industry. Mykola Zlochevsky, the CEO of the company and a former Ukrainian government minister, told a confidential FBI source that the company had made illicit payments to Hunter Biden and Joe Biden to receive political protection and that it would not be possible for investigators to find them, according to a redacted FBI Confidential Source Report from 2020 on the conversation.

Senate confirms eco-terrorist-linked Biden nominee who endorsed population control

The Senate confirmed President Biden's embattled eco-terrorist-linked nominee who endorsed population control to lead the Bureau of Land Management (BLM).

Who is covering up cocaine scandal in the White House? Former Secret Service agent claims agency 'knows exactly who' brought it in WASHINGTON, DC: A former Secret Service agent has accused the White House of covering up the identity of the person who brought cocaine into the West Wing earlier this month. Right-wing inclined Don Bongino, who served in the Secret Service for 12 years, said that the agency "knows exactly who it was" and that they are "furious" and "embarrassed" about the incident.

The cocaine scandal erupted on July 2, when a dime-sized baggie of the drug was found in the West Wing, where the president and his staff work. At the time, President Joe Biden, his son Hunter, and the rest of the Biden family were visiting Camp David, a presidential retreat in Maryland.

'They gotta know who did it'

The Secret Service conducted a DNA and fingerprint analysis of the baggie but closed its investigation last week without revealing any suspects. In a Twitter video, Bongino told The Daily Signal that someone within the White House was pressuring them to not find out who did it. "They gotta know who did it," Bongino said on Twitter. "The question is, who's pressuring them to not find out who did it? And it's gotta be coming from this White House." "There's no way that this should have gone down the way it did," he added. "Let me just say as a personal plea to my former colleagues in the Secret Service whom I adore and love, don't do to that agency what the FBI did to itself."

Joe Biden Has Declared War on Free Speech

The Latest On Joe Biden and His Battle to Restrict Online Speech - President Joe Biden has reason to smile, as a federal appeals court applied a temporary pause to a lower court's order preventing the federal government from pressuring social media companies to censor political activists and journalists.

The "administrative stay" ordered by a New Orleans court allows the government to continue its actions while legal proceedings continue.

The Original Order

On Tuesday, July 4, (2023) U.S. District Judge Terry Dougherty restricted some federal agencies from communicating and meeting with officials representing social media companies with a view to moderating content.

The injunction came in response to a lawsuit filed by Republican attorneys general from Missouri and Louisiana, who argued that U.S. government officials were going beyond their authority to prevent social media users from expressing views that the Biden administration does not approve of.

The ruling required the Department of Health and Human Services and the FBI, as well as other federal agencies, to cease communications with social media companies for "the purpose of urging, encouraging, pressuring, or inducing in any manner the removal, deletion, suppression, or reduction of content containing protected free speech."

Biden administration officials responded to the order by defending past behavior, arguing that communication with social media companies was necessary to ensure the prevention of the spread of inaccurate information about elections and the COVID-19 pandemic.

Feminist author: Trans admiral Rachel Levine using 'child sacrifices' to plug 'gender-affirming' care

A feminist author has accused President Biden's assistant health secretary, the transgender Rachel Levine, of using kids as "child sacrifices" in his "disgusting" push for so-called "gender-affirming" care.

Levine recently received a heap of backlash for claiming that children can undergo the "wrong puberty."

When asked by ABC News interviewer Juju Chang why children can't wait until they are 18 to seek "gender-affirming" care, Levine replied, "Adolescence is hard and puberty is hard. What if you're going

.... "I think every single sentence that Rachel Levine said is false," she continued, "and the fact that he is asking for children or saying that

"You're creating a human being who can never be a normal adult.

We're doing, like, sex lobotomies, and we're doing them on children, and we're doing them, probably, to tens of thousands of children, invisibly, in clinics."

Explosive Hunter Biden Hearing: Dems Unprepared for Evidence, Resort to Fiction, Says Comer

House Oversight Committee Chairman, James Comer (R-Ky), took center stage during a riveting hearing on Wednesday, where two IRS whistleblowers provided crucial information regarding the Biden family's business dealings. Comer highlighted the bipartisan nature of the hearing, with one whistleblower, Joseph Ziegler, identifying as a Democrat. In contrast to the typical tactics employed by Democrats, Comer emphasized that they were presenting a ton of evidence, including Treasury Suspicious Activity Reports and FBI agent testimonies, leaving no room for baseless claims. Let's dive into the explosive revelations that unfolded during this must-see hearing.

Evidence Galore: Facts Over Fiction

Chairman Comer did not hold back when discussing the stark contrast between the evidence presented during the hearing and the tactics employed by Democrats. He pointed out that Democrats like Adam Schiff and Jamie Raskin are known for pulling stuff out of their rear ends and presenting it as fact. However, Comer emphasized that they were committed to a different approach, focused on providing concrete evidence. In a strong rebuke, Comer made it clear that facts matter, and you can't deceive when confronted with bank records.

Garland and DOJ sued for failing to require Hunter Biden to register as foreign agent

A conservative legal group filed a lawsuit on Tuesday against Attorney General Merrick Garland and the Department of Justice over claims the department failed to enforce the Foreign Agents Registration Act for Hunter Biden.

America First Legal claimed in the lawsuit the DOJ had a legal obligation to require President Joe Biden's son to register with the DOJ his involvement with Ukrainian energy company Burisma Holdings Limited when Hunter Biden joined its board in 2014.

AFL also cited Hunter's business pursuits with Chinese oil tycoon Ye Jianming, for which Hunter explicitly sought in 2017 to avoid registering as a foreign agent, according to text messages between him and his former business partner Tony Bobulinski.

The group contended that because the FBI had in 2019 subpoenaed Hunter's laptop, DOJ therefore "had actual knowledge that Hunter Biden has been a statutorily defined foreign agent of (at a minimum) Ukrainian and Chinese principals."

Hunter "therefore was legally obligated to register as such. However, the Department has neither required Mr. Biden to register nor undertaken a waiver rulemaking," the lawsuit stated.

The filing is based, in part, off a trove of emails AFL acquired from the National Archives that reveal Hunter communicated with U.S. government employees in their official capacity about Burisma during the Obama administration, which, according to AFL, is evidence Hunter was subject to FARA.

A New Appliance Is In The Crosshairs Of The Biden Admin's Regulatory Onslaught

The Biden administration has proposed a rule that would restrict new portable gas generators in the U.S., an escalation in the administration's regulatory assault on appliances.

The proposed Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) rule would impose tight carbon monoxide emissions standards on new portable gas generators of all sizes and a requirement that generators turn off when certain amounts of emissions are reached.

The proposed rule follows the Biden administration's attempt to heavily regulate gas stoves and a 2021 Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) rule targeting refrigerants used in air conditioners and fridges.

Michigan bill that would impose punishments for 'misgendering' gets torched by Twitter

A bill that was recently passed by Michigan's House of Representatives imposing harsh penalties including imprisonment for the crime of hurting someone's feelings is drawing a strong reaction from free speech advocates as it moves toward becoming the law of the land in the Wolverine State.

Last month, Democrat lawmakers passed the new legislation by a 59-50 vote, giving prosecutors sweeping new powers to prosecute "hate speech," the always vaguely defined term that has been increasingly used to punish and otherwise censor dissent and legitimate political speech, in a chilling move that will likely serve as the model for similar bills in states under the control of left-wing authoritarians.

HB 4474 establishes that causing someone to feel threatened is a serious crime and that those who are found to have offended a member of a protected class are "guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or by a fine of not more than $10,000."

MY VIEW: The next legislation will be against looking at one of the "Protected class," in a bad way, whatever that might be identified as by the PC.

Bottomline it's just another way of controlling us. This insanity has to end.

SUZANNE DOWNING: Biden Backs America Into A Corner After Whittling Down Key Oil Reserve

Since the creation of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve in the mid-1970s, America has never been backed into such an energy corner as we're in now, thanks to the Biden administration selling off much of our oil reserve to countries like China.

It's an invisible trap about which most Americans are oblivious, but it has everything to do with inflation, recession and national security. Americans may soon feel the pain of rising prices, supply shortages and a faltering economy, if OPEC, Russia and China succeed in taking advantage of our suddenly depleted energy stockpile.

Under President Joe Biden, this draw-down of our reserve oil masks political problems he blames on Russia. But that dog won't hunt. Let me explain:

Recall that it took just one year after

Biden became president for Russia President Vladimir Putin to invade Ukraine. Putin had also seized parts of Crimea during the years when Barack Obama was president.

Putin held his Ukraine ambitions in abeyance during the four years of President Donald Trump. Love him or hate him, Trump was the president with whom Putin did not want to mess. For four years, the United States was strong enough to stall the expansion plans of the Russian strongman until that fateful day when American voters evidently elected a man who would hardly leave his basement to campaign for president.

13 Facts About Native Americans You Didn't Learn in History Class

You can thank the Iroquois Nation for the constitution

Read More @ Reader's Digest

Depending on how much you know about the constitution, you may be surprised to learn that Ben Franklin and the founding fathers modeled the United States constitution on the constitution of the Iroquois Confederacy. However, Pamala Silas, associate director of outreach and engagement for the Center For Native American and Indigenous Research at Northwestern University, says, "Ben Franklin left out the most important part. The clan mothers were the ones who picked the leaders at the representative level because they knew them the best."

There were female warriors

In the movies, male Native American warriors rode off to battle while their female counterparts remained behind to cook, sew, and take care of the camp. In real life, this wasn't always the case. Many warrior Native American women fought alongside men. The most famous of these was probably Buffalo Calf Road Woman, a member of the Northern Cheyenne tribe who fought in the Battle of the Rosebud and the Battle of Little Bighorn. In fact, according to the elders of the Northern Cheyenne tribe, it was she who dealt Custer his final deadly blow. Buffalo Calf Road Woman is just one of many incredible women you didn't read about in history class.

You need to hear about Maria Tallchief

If you managed to get through school without hearing about Maria Tallchief, you missed out on hearing about a pioneering woman who changed the world. Tallchief, whose father was a member of the Osage Nation, dreamed of being a ballet dancer from the time she was a little girl. At 17, she moved to New York City to pursue a career as a ballerina but racism stood in her way. She was advised many times to change her last name so her Native American heritage wouldn't be readily apparent, but Tallchief refused. Her hard work, talent, and unwavering persistence paid off. Maria Tallchief eventually broke barriers as the first American to dance with the Paris Opera Ballet and the Bolshoi Theater in Moscow. She became the prima ballerina at the New York City Ballet and was regarded as one of the greatest dancers in the world.

We can finally honor the code talkers

Until 2002, the heroic service many Native Americans Code Talkers performed in the United States military remained classified. After Congress passed the Code Talkers Recognition Act, their story was told. In both World War I and World War II, Native American servicemen relayed messages behind enemy lines in their native languages and dialects. It was dangerous work, performed in a time when many Native Americans were fighting discrimination and discouraged from practicing their native culture back home. Their codes were never broken, giving the United States a huge advantage. Today, the Code Talkers are credited with changing the course of history. The Root Cause of the Homelessness Crisis

Thirty percent of the American homeless population and 50 percent of its unsheltered population live in California, more than 170,000 people total. Homelessness is primarily a function of the broader housing-unaffordability crisis, which in turn is primarily a function of how difficult local governments have made building new housing in the places that need it the most.

Pundits and politicians routinely claim that the California homelessness crisis is actually a result of people moving from other states for better weather or better public benefits. But new research casts doubt on this theory. Last month, researchers at UC San Francisco released the largest representative survey of homeless people in more than 25 years. It comprises survey data from 3,200 homeless people in California and in-depth interviews with more than 300 of them.

The overwhelming majority of homeless people surveyed were locals, not migrants from far away: 90 percent lost their last housing in California, and 75 percent lost it in the same county where they were experiencing homelessness. Of the 10 percent who came from elsewhere, 30 percent were born in California. Most of the others had familial or employment ties, or had previously lived in the state

Sacramento's latest attack on Proposition 13 and you

Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association members and frequent readers of this column have undoubtedly heard about Assembly Constitutional Amendment 1. ACA 1 is a direct and perennial attack on Proposition 13 that would change the state Constitution to cut the percentage of votes needed to raise special taxes, dropping it from the current two-thirds required under Prop. 13 to only 55%.

This year, hoping to capitalize on California's dual crises of housing and homelessness, ACA 1 has been slightly altered to allow higher taxes for anything labeled "infrastructure" and for certain public housing projects.

Fortunately, while it is introduced every year, we always manage to beat it back. However, you never know when some deal may be struck that sees ACA 1 sail through. That is especially true in this new Legislature session. With so many new legislators, it is hard to guess what they are going to do. Bad bills pass all the time.

And this might be the year.

ACA 1 passed its first committee last week. What is most worrying is that while it unsurprisingly met with the approval of the tax and spenders (Tasha Boerner, D-Encinitas; Juan Carrillo, D-Palmdale; Matt Haney, D-San Francisco; Blanca Pacheco, D-Downey; James Ramos, D-Highland; Lori Wilson, D-Fairfield), only Diane Dixon, R-Newport Beach, voted no (Marie Waldron, R-Valley Center, didn't vote).

MY VIEW: Maybe Assemblymember Ramos didn't get a chance to read the article on the left, you think? Mr. Ramos, you can't fix the homeless problem by adding more cost for housing! Basic Econ. 101, look it up. In 1978, Prop 13 was passed to protect home owners from the irresponsible CA "Tax & Spend" lawmakers. Don't trade your VALUES for Favors.

State Launches Historic Firefighting Partnership with the Pala Band of Mission Indians

SAN DIEGO CA – Working to fortify state and local resources to keep Californians safe from all-hazard disasters, the California Governor's Office of Emergency Services (Cal OES) has created a first-in-the-state partnership with a Tribal Nation.

Through an agreement with the state, the Pala Band of Mission Indians and Pala Fire Department are now a partner of the California Fire and Rescue Mutual Aid System.

In particular, Cal OES is assigning a Type III fire engine to the Pala Fire Department, increasing their capability to respond to local and statewide incidents. During times of disaster, the Type III engine may be called upon to preposition ahead of or respond to emergency incidents statewide.

"Cal OES is thrilled to create a historic partnership with the Pala Band of Mission Indians and the Pala Fire Department," said Nancy Ward, Director of Cal OES. "Increasing capabilities of the California Fire and Rescue Mutual Aid System will ensure we can get vital resources to communities statewide during times of need."

"The Pala Band of Mission Indians and the Pala Fire Department are thrilled to be partnering with Cal OES on a mutual aid agreement," said Robert Smith, Chairman of the Pala Band of Mission Indians. "This is a momentous occasion for the Tribe and for the safety of our community."

The UN Human Rights Council demands the death of free speech

The United Nations Human Rights Council is now demanding that all countries abandon free speech and free expression and create and enforce blasphemy laws. This is not a surprise, though, because there is nothing the U.N. Human Rights Council hates more than human rights.

The Human Rights Council voted to approve a resolution demanding that countries “address, prevent and prosecute acts and advocacy of religious hatred” in response to two men in Sweden tearing pages out of a Quran and lighting it on fire. Pakistan’s U.N. envoy said that “The opposition of a few in the room has emanated from their unwillingness to condemn the public desecration of the holy Qur’an.”

That is not true.

But, Pakistan is unable to fathom that you can indeed condemn the “public desecration” of the Quran without sentencing anyone to death, which is Pakistan’s idea of “prosecuting acts and advocacy of religious hatred.” Pakistan has already handed out multiple death sentences for blasphemy this year, which you would think is in direct conflict with the U.N.’s Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which says that “Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression.”

Read More @ Washington Examiner

MY VIEW: It would appear that the American Socialist Democratic Party (ASDP) is in lock step with U.N. Human Rights Council with regards to the elimination of free speech and free expression, but not creating and enforce blasphemy laws.

The ASDP is more focused on the abolishment of Religion as prescribed by Saul Alinsky in his “8 Steps to Topple a Nation.”

The Socialist agenda is not new to the American people as it has been implemented as proposed by Karl Marx, “a slice at a time.” However, the current heavy handedness of the Federal and State socialist Governments has reached a critical status that if not resolved could result in the ending of a once great Nation.

Hot dogs are highly processed foods that contain many ingredients other than animal meat. Among them is maltodextrin, which, if consumed in excess, can cause damage to the intestines and stomach.

Additionally, a serving of hot dogs has 33% of the recommended daily sodium intake. As if that were not enough, hot dogs usually list "poultry meat" among their ingredients, an ambiguous term that raises doubts about the true origin of the meat they contain. Considering this, it's surprising just how many of these are sold at stores like Kroger each year.

Peanut Butter

Manufacturer: JIFF, Skippy's, 365, Market Pantry, and more

Est. Price: $2-$5 per jar *

Peanut butter is high in calories and protein, and it is a common snack for people who are trying to avoid a lot of carbs. The fat in peanut butter is mostly healthy, though note that peanuts do have some saturated fat. Saturated fat can lead to heart issues when it is consumed over a long period of time.

Meat

Manufacturer: Tyson Foods, JBS USA, Cargill, and more

Est. Price: $4-$10 per pound

You have probably heard that meat is part of a healthy, balanced diet. However, excessive consumption of this meat is also a health risk. A lot of meat on the market today contains pesticides that are consumed by the animals, which remain in their bodies for us to consume.

Hot Sauce

Manufacturer: Valentina Mexican, Cholula, Frank's Red Hot, Tabasco, and more

Est. Price: $1-$3 per bottle *

There is no doubt that hot sauce is one of the most popular condiments out there. Due to its versatile flavor, it can be used in a myriad of dishes, from simple snacks to more elaborate meals. There isn't a single meal that can't be made more exciting via the addition of hot sauce.

But although the hotness of this sauce is the entire appeal, it can also damage our stomach lining and cause gastritis. The most sensible thing to do is to consume this product in moderation and take into account the negative effects it can have on our health - even if it can be bought at a bargain price on Amazon!

“The worlds economic system & political systems are not the Same“

What is the most capitalistic country in the world? is my new favorite cocktail party question.

The answer, of course, is China.

But how can that be, people ask; they are communist.

Therein lies one of the biggest splits in our modern life/fealty.

Capitalism is an economic system just as communism, socialism, democracy and representative democracy are political systems.

Capitalism is based on the acquisition of capital, usually from profits. Land, water rights, animal stock, intellectual properties, and infrastructure may be counted as capital assets if they can be used in the market place to barter or buy more.

One can have capitalism in any of the economic systems. The distinction is how that capital is spent or shared.

It is well pointed out that one of the first and major culture conflicts between natives on this continent and their colonists was the difference in ideas about ownership of land, mediums of exchange and the distribution of wealth throughout the community.

There have been epochs of history in which tribes have been labled Communist as a scare tactic, the latest being Secretary of the Interior, James Watt in the 1980's.* (He passed away in June of this year - I missed it).

This was based on the tribal inclination to share with rather than out-compete ones family and neighbors. The practice of shared/no "ownership" of land, hunting/gathering as a group, care for widows and elderly, barter and trade was an enanthema to those who touted individualism and acquisition of wealth as they way to prove "success". Community or communal living was the standard.

Socialism has been the next biggest scare word, despite 69.8 million Americans enrolled in Social Security in 2020. Despite 123,627 libraries (and 125,000 librarians). And 98,469 public schools hanging on.

Monarchy, dictatorship, autocracy and benevolent despotism are (publicly) not seen as alternatives within the USA so those terms are not banded about as much.

Why is this important, particularly to the younger generations?

First it is important for emergent tribal leadership to know and understand both their traditional economic and political roots.

Economics generally were formulate based on geographic location and environmental conditions; political organizations ran the gamut from matriarchal to monarchical, from intricate clan systems to secret societies, from family unit to bands to large tribes.

It is important to understand the foundation and then to trace the impacts of territorial invasion, colonialization, and competing empires on individual tribes before analyzing the impacts of the formal USA after the adoption of the Constitution in 1789.

There is much history to be examined prior to "contact" with the US government. Even tribes not residing within US boundaries as the US grew west were impacted by the policies and programs before the Territory around them became part of the USA as a State.

Explaining economic and political concepts from a philosopher or archmagician's point of view is probably not of interest to a young student. But asking questions about how basic life necessities were obtained can start the conversation. Why is there often a give-away at a tribal gathering? How were orphans, widows and the aged taken care of? Why was a disabled infant killed or honored as special in divergent tribes?

A firm grounding in these concepts will enable a learner to then measure the evolution of change or conflict with USA laws/policies that created the monetary and related economic systems of today.

If COVID proved anything, it is that we do have a world economy and it ripples into every corner. To understand the ebb and flow, to say nothing of acquisition of capital and then to analyze its distribution (or hoarding) and application to society is a skill that tribal groups that choose to engage the modern world will need.....another arrow in an emergent leader's quiver.

MY VIEW: As always, an excellent article by Shayne Del Cohen, PhD. As she clearly defines the difference between the world governments usage of the Capitalist economic system and their political systems.

Basically, Capitalism is the production of goods and service which are sold to consumers at a profit.

Again, the different is the political systems. In a Democratic Republic as we tend to have in America the workers are paid directly to produce the goods and service. The worker then becomes the consumer.

The balance between the workers wages and the cost of the goods and services is a very fine and delicate line. And although the equality between the wages and cost has closed over the past two centuries, at least to the point of manageability the demand remains the variable.

In Socialist, Marxist, Communist and other similar political Governments the distribution of income from labor is redistributed by their Government agencies.

And as Shayne pointed out that some goods and services the United States Government administers tend to mirror Socialist polices and paid for from taxes. However, I beg to differ on the issue of Social Security as an entitlement as viewed shayne & by to many lawmakers today.

Social Security is nothing more than a "Ponzi Scam" created by President F.D. Roosevelt. Besides that as a problem of sustainability, President Johnson took the Social Security funds in the mid 60's and didn't pay it back. And in addition all this nonsense former Senator Biden sponsored the taxing of up to 80% on the Social Security. Again, political. Makes one wonder if there is a difference in the political ideologies.

Bye-Bye Blue Bird: Elon Musk to 'bid adieu' to Twitter logo in exchange for an 'X'

The internet may soon bid farewell to the bird as Elon Musk encouraged a crowdsource campaign to accelerate his vision.

The wealthy tech entrepreneur may have purchased Twitter last year for around $44 billion, but his personal engagement with the platform and suggestions about its potential have intimated that its perceived value may be far higher. The same could not be true for the brand itself as Musk set a fire Saturday night teasing an imminent end for the famed blue bird.

"And soon we shall bid adieu to the twitter brand and, gradually, all the birds," tweeted the social media company's owner after grabbing the attention of users with another post that read, "Paint it Black."

PRESIDENT TRUMP 2024 🇺🇸

WHY I WILL VOTE FOR TRUMP

Renata @Czesc45

To answer all of those of you who would say, "I can't believe you would vote for Trump." I'm not just voting for him. I'm voting against socialism. I'm voting for the 2nd Amendment. I'm voting for the next supreme court justice. I'm voting for the electoral college and the Constitutional Republic we live in. I'm voting for the police, and law and order. I'm voting for the military, and the veterans who fought and died for this country. I'm voting for the flag that I love. I'm voting for the right to speak my opinion and not be censored. I'm voting for secure borders. I'm voting for the right to praise my God without fear. I'm voting for every unborn soul the Democrats want to murder. I'm voting for liberty, freedom and the American dream. I'm voting for good against evil. I'm not just voting for one person, I'm voting for the future of my country!

How many Americans care enough to "Like" & "Share"?

Bud Light has dropped to 14th in America.

Sound of Freedom just hit $100M at the Box Office.

"Try That In A Small Town" is the #1 song on iTunes.

Disney lost $900M+ on their last 8 releases.

The silent majority is real.

With all due respect, please read this, then read it again. Then teach it to your children and grandchildren.

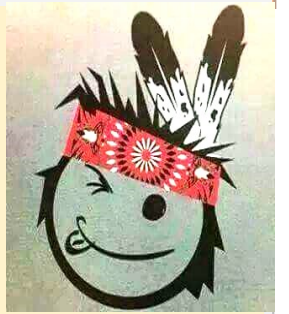

History is not there for you to like or dislike. It is there for you to learn from it. And if it offends you, even better. Because then you are less likely to repeat it. It's not yours to erase or destroy.

$15 per Hour. Guy goes into a bar, there's a robot bartender. Since the minimum wage was increased to $15 the owner had to replace his regular human bartender. The robot says, "What will you have?" The guy says, "Martini." The robot brings back the best martini ever and says to the man, "What's your IQ?" The guy says, "168." The robot then proceeds to talk about physics, space exploration and medical technology. The guy leaves, but he is curious..So he goes back into the bar. The robot bartender says, "What will you have?" The guy says, "Martini." Again, the robot makes a great martini gives it to the man and says, "What's your IQ?" The guy says, "100." The robot then starts to talk about NASCAR, Budweiser and John Deere tractors. The guy leaves, but finds it very interesting, so he thinks he will try it one more time. He goes back into the bar. The robot says, "What will you have?" The guy says, "Martini," and the robot brings him another great martini. The robot then says, "What's your IQ?" The guy says, "Uh, about 50." The robot leans in real close and says, "So, you people still happy you voted for Biden?"
