

Leaked Video Shows Ex-Capitol Police Chief Saying January 6th Was A ‘Cover Up’

A newly leaked video shows Tucker Carlson, who is the highest-rate cable news host in U.S. history, speaking with Steven Sund, who was chief of the Capitol Police at the time of the January 6th riot in 2021.

In the interview, which was obtained by The National Pulse, Sund makes a number of alarming claims. He resigned following the Capitol riot because then-House Speaker Nancy Pelosi demanded that he step down.

“The lawlessness of these persecutions of President Trump and his supporters is reminiscent of Nazi Germany in the 1930s, the former Soviet Union, and other authoritarian, dictatorial regimes.”

he was “pissed off” about what happened and claimed that he wasn’t allowed to do his job.

Sund says the crowd on January 6th was “filled with agents.” The FBI is accused of having numerous informants working with groups involved in the Capitol riot. The FBI has denied having any informants or undercover agents involved in January 6th. Fact-checkers have repeatedly claimed there is no evidence that the FBI was involved in the January 6th riot.

A Trump campaign spokesperson said, “This is nothing more than the latest corrupt chapter in the continued pathetic attempt by the Biden Crime Family and their weaponized Department of Justice to interfere with the 2024 Presidential Election, in which President Trump is the undisputed frontrunner, and leading by substantial margins.”

“But why did they wait two and a half years to bring these fake charges, right in the middle of President Trump’s winning campaign for 2024? Why was it announced the day after the big Crooked Joe Biden scandal broke out from the Halls of Congress?” the spokesperson added. “The answer is, election interference!”

Indigenous and Native American Heritage Month reminds us of the importance of reading Native American children’s books to learn and celebrate the culture, contributions, history, and traditions of American Indians and Indigenous groups from the United States and Canada.

The National American Indian Heritage Month in November began in 1990. Only recently has the world of children’s literature caught up with the importance of publishing and reading Native voices and stories.

In fact, Harper Collins recently launched the Heartdrum Imprint! Heartdrum publishes children’s books that “emphasize the present and future of Indian Country and the strength of young Indigenous heroes.”

Use this list to share amazing, inclusive middle grade and a few YA Native American books with your kids and students; books that represent indigenous voices and indigenous heroic main characters.

Science is real. Climate reporters apparently just don't bother to read it

As I write, smoke still rises off of Hawaii, and we do not have a final death count from the inferno that has claimed at least 55 lives. This tragedy has taken a toll not only on human lives but also on physical infrastructure and cultural treasures (Lahaina, one of the worst-struck towns, was the seat of the king of the united Hawaiian Kingdom in the early and mid-1800s). It is for this reason that it would be so ugly to use the disaster as a talking point, especially a talking point that is factually wrong or not supported by the available research and evidence. Nonetheless, that is just what many politicians and media outlets are irresponsibly doing with the Hawaiian fire disaster as they attribute the drought and storm wind conditions that left the Hawaiian islands, and especially Maui, so susceptible to wildfire. In reality, the best actual institutional, peer-reviewed, published science on Hawaiian drought conditions finds that they cannot be attributed to climate change. ... There is little quick turnaround research in general, and none on recent Hawaiian droughts in the reputable likely sources, Climate Central or World Weather Attribution. The American Meteorological Society's Journal of Climate did look at the longer-term trend of drought in Hawaii in 2022, giving "a diagnosis of the Hawaiian drought ... assessing various possibilities for its nature and causes based on analysis of climate model experiments." This, the best and most recent summary from institutional research, rather than a tweet, is the actual "The Science" that supposedly the staff of outlets such as the Washington Post and the Guardian are so enthused over.

Have We All Lost Our Minds?' Country Songwriter Blasts Wokeness With Simple Question

Country songwriter Wynn Varble is one of the most prolific artists in the industry, working alongside Garth Brooks, Trace Adkins, and Brad Paisley. In a new song titled "I'm Just Sayin'," Varble argues "wokeness" is destroying America from within. The song was performed by rising star Austin Moody. The lyrics read: "They call themselves enlightened but cancel those who don't agree / I wish all these folks who claim they're woke would just go back to sleep." The song continues: "I'm just sayin' Have we all lost our minds? / I'm just sayin' where do we draw the line / I know y'all think it takes balls to be singing what I'm singing / But I'm just singing what you're thinking"

Nobel Prize Winning Scientist Gets 'Canceled' For What He Just Said About Climate Change

Esteemed physicist Dr. John Clauser, who holds multiple degrees from the California Institute of Technology and Columbia University, won Nobel Prize in Physics in 2022. As a scientific expert, Clauser does not believe there is a man-made global warming crisis. This doesn't sit well with left-wing climate activists.

"I don't believe there is a climate crisis," Clauser explained. "The world we live in today is filled with misinformation. It is up to each of you to serve as judges, distinguishing truth from falsehood based on accurate observations of phenomena." "In my opinion, there is no real climate crisis," Dr. Clauser continued. "There is, however, a very real problem with providing a decent standard of living to the world's large population and an associated energy crisis. The latter is being unnecessarily exacerbated by what, in my opinion, is incorrect climate science."

Those who deny global warming often face extreme ridicule and are subject to censorship and "cancelation." In 2022, a peer-reviewed study from climate experts was published showing several unsubstantiated claims about "apocalyptic" climate change appearing in the mainstream media.

History Made as First Navajo Appointed U.S. Federal Judge in California

Judge Sunshine Suzanne Sykes (Navajo Nation) made history on Friday, May 26, when she was sworn in as a federal district judge for the Central District of California in Riverside, Calif., with her family, friends, and colleagues supporting her from beside the stage.

Sykes’ appointment marks the first time a citizen of the Navajo Nation has been appointed to serve as an Article III judge anywhere in the country. Article III judges are appointed for life as jurists on federal district and circuit courts and the Supreme Court.

President Joe Biden nominated Sykes in December of 2021. Sykes is Biden’s second Native American judicial nominee, the first being Lauren King (Muscogee Nation) for the federal judge position in Washington.

Sykes is the first Native American to serve as a federal judge in California and the sixth to actively serve as a federal district judge.

Sykes, who hails from Tuba City, Ariz., is a Stanford University graduate, receiving both her undergraduate degree from Stanford and her J.D. degree from Stanford Law School in 2001.

She was a staff attorney for California Indian Legal Services until 2003. Then, Sykes worked as a contract attorney for the Juvenile Defense Panel at the Southwest Justice Center. From 2005 to 2013, she served as a Deputy County Counsel in the Office of County Counsel for Riverside County, handling litigation on behalf of government entities and serving as a juvenile dependency trial attorney representing the California Department of Public Social Services on matters concerning abused and neglected children.

I’m a Black doctor suing California for its racist medical mandate

I know what racial progress to the point of enshrining racism in law. Since the start of first Black students to attend 2022, law makers Stanford University and the have mandated that University of California San all continuing medical education Francisco medical school. courses offered by state-based organizations include a degree 50 years ago, in 1973, focus on so-called "implicit bias." society was far from just. Yet it seemed that California was leading the nation toward a future of equal treatment, free of the racist belief that skin color defines who we are as human beings.

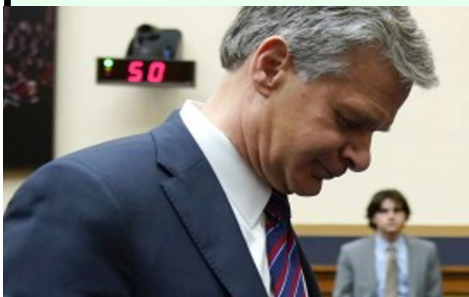

Physicians are required to take at least 50 hours of such coursework every two years. For me, this is a double whammy. Like all physicians, I have to renew my license, and I frequently teach continuing education courses.

What happened to that forward-looking California? My state is now going backward –

I don’t care that I’m not the target. This still represents the kind of racist thinking that was starting to fade 50 years ago. I don’t want to be taught this evil, nor do I want to teach it to others. Read More @ FOX News

Wray lied about not targeting Catholics

Read More @ Washington Examiner

FBI Director Christopher Wray has forfeited all grounds for confidence in his integrity. He was caught this week in yet another falsehood, this time about an infamous memo targeting "traditionalist" Catholics, which appears to mean those who hew to orthodox doctrines and unmodernized liturgies. Wray must be made to clean up his act or clean out his office.

The memo, produced by the FBI’s Richmond field office, said the bureau should particularly monitor “traditionalist Catholic” people, such as those who prefer the Latin Mass, as potential purveyors of “violent extremis[m]” who may need to be targeted for “threat mitigation.” It assumed traditionalist Catholics are particularly prone to becoming domestic terrorists. This is false and defamatory, and the specter of law enforcement targeting a faith community raises serious First Amendment concerns.

In his July 12 testimony to the House Judiciary Committee, Wray insisted that the memo was merely “a single product by a single field office.”

Wray consistently acts as though the purpose of his job is to serve the FBI, up to and including defending or concealing indefensible FBI behavior. His job is to serve, and to have the FBI serve, the public and its duly enacted laws. This should mean firing all FBI staff who instead serve themselves and their ideological allies.

FBI Caught Lying For Hunter Biden Under Sworn Deposition

During a sworn deposition, FBI special agent Elvis Chan claimed the bureau and big tech companies only had one meeting regarding the Hunter Biden laptop story.

In a bombshell development, Meta Inc. was served with a subpoena from Congress to provide their private email correspondence with the FBI.

The FBI likely never predicted their secret email correspondence with Facebook would fall into the hands of Congress and the American people. Republican Rep. Jim Jordan of Ohio says the politicized FBI has lied to the American people to protect Democrats and the Biden family. The internal communications reveal that the FBI had extensive meetings with Facebook. Chan himself had more than one meeting with Facebook, which directly contradicts his testimony.

Chan also testified of having no knowledge about the Hunter Biden laptop investigation. Again, this contradicts what Chan privately told Facebook behind closed doors. In the months leading up to the 2020 presidential election, the FBI and big tech companies wrongfully censored information about Hunter's laptop.

"The laptop was real, and the FBI knew it," said Rep. Jordan on X, the platform formerly known as Twitter. "The FBI had the laptop since December 2019. Is there any wonder why the Biden DOJ has so far stonewalled the Committee's efforts to interview Agent Chan?"

In 2022, Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg revealed

MY VIEW: "FBI special agent Elvis Chan lied to congress about Hunter Biden's laptop and the FBI knew it." La Dee Da.

I hate to sound negative, but the reality of the current political corruption and abuse of power is so extensive, engrained and blatant to the point that it is almost acceptable behavior.

The U.S. Attorney General Merrick Garland at the Department of Justice has weaponized it to the point that the rule of law is no longer the criteria for prosecution, but rather the percussion of those that oppose the current reign. If one didn't know better they might think we are in 1934 Germany,

Remember Andrew McCabe?

He is the former FBI Deputy Director that lied to the FISA Court, falsified evidence and lied to FBI agents 4-time investigating the illegal investigation against then presidential candidate Donald Trump. AG Garland refused to prosecute him, stating that he didn't have enough evidence to convict him. He even reinstated McCabe as a FBI official and allow him to retired and collect full benefits and rewarded him with $100,000 for his legal fee. And this is only the tip of the corruption within the DOJ, FBI and IRS just to name a few involved. Hunter Biden's laptop has been sitting on a shelf gathering dust since September 2020. The FBI claimed it was Russian misinformation. It even went to the extent of gaining over 50 government agency heads to support it's claim.

The Trump fiascos, the war on Christianity and the anti-America crusade continues in full force.

And even as the evidence piles up against the Biden's the focus is still on Trump. The strategy is simple, while Trump is forced to spend millions of dollars to defend himself while the government uses our bottomless tax dollars to destroy needs to end and I truly believe the majority of the American people have had enough and are ready to take their Country back.

The congress has failed to do its job, the judicial system is no longer based in the rule of law but rather on political ideology. And the Executive Branch has risen above the law. One of the best examples in addition to the Obama executive order referred to as DACA, which he even admitted was not Constitutional, yet, he amended the Endangered Species Act by the same process, executive order.

Where is the GOP? They have yet to challenge it to the supreme court. And almost all the federal judges have ruled it legal. And forget the Endangered Species Act in which he allowed waivers to be issued to wind and solar producers to kill various numbers of Endangered Species including eagles and condor. Where are the environmentalist?

The late great Dr. E.V. Hill was once asked if he thought Jesus was Caucasian as depicted in paintings. This was his reply:

"I don't know anything about a white Jesus... I know about Christ, a Savior named Jesus. I don't know what color He is. He was born in the brown Middle East; He fled to black Africa; and He was in heaven before the gospel got to white Europe. So, I don't know what color He is."

10 attributes of a Woke mind

"woke" is the only word capitalized to give it importance. The entire message is constructed by the woke globalist elitist folks to appear in a non-threatening manner.

#1) You read books and don't burn them

MY VIEW: Except the Holy Bible, Huck Fin & Part Time Indian.

#2) You embrace science

MY VIEW: Except biology, men can have babies, transgenders must be accepted as girls & if we don't support the multitude of genders you are targeted, pronouns & the cancel culture.

#3) You are willing to change your mind your mind when new information becomes available

MY VIEW: This will never happen, never. But in the mean time you'll censor & cancel any and all objectors. The cancelling of Aristotle because of his views on the equality of men over women.

The man lived & died 2,345 years ago, he lived in a different era.

In America, the 19th Amendment was adopted on Aug, 18, 1920 allowing woman the right to vote.

#4) You understand that most issues are not black and white

MY VIEW: It has been made very cleat that "Rainbow" is the only color that meets the woke criteria.

#5) You believe in true equality for all people

MY VIEW: This one is tricky because woke defines "True Equality" for all people as all folks that aren't White and/or Christian or support a Conseritive ideology.

#6) You have empathy

MY VIEW: Only for those that follow the woke ideology.

#7) You embrace cooperation

MY VIEW: Yep, as long as it's "My way or the highway"

#8) You respect others' rights

MY VIEW: Yes of course you do, as long as they don't include Free Speech, the Right to Bear Arms or Due Process.

#9) You believe culture and the arts have value

MY VIEW: As long as it's not "Offensive or pro Christian"

#10) You care for the planet

MY VIEW: I think that the greater majority of the American people care for the planet, and anyone with any common sense knows that the planet will take care of its self as it has for well over 147 BILLION YEARS. The planet isn't going anywhere, we are!

And yes, we have not been as responsible in caring for our environment as we should have, but that doesn't justify the overreach and forcing of unsustainable energy fads on the people.

Nuclear energy is clean, cheap & renewable. Hydrogen is another energy source that is not acceptable to the woke.

Global warming, climate change and renewable energy is nothing short of a well planned scam.

One day, the truth of the inexcusable devastation it has caused to the eco environment, specifically of the bird and fowl.

The cover up of the massive losses of the bird, ducks, Geese & eagles population and the illness caused to humans resulting from the primitive, unsafe and lacks disposal of the bird carcass from the area around the wind turbines.

10 attributes of a Woke mind

- 1 You read books and don't burn them
- 2 You embrace science
- 3 You are willing to change your mind when new information becomes available
- 4 You understand that most issues are not black and white
- 5 You believe in true equality for all people
- 6 You have empathy
- 7 You embrace cooperation
- 8 You respect others' rights
- 9 You believe culture and the arts have value
- 10 You care for the planet

The illegal wavers of the endangered Species Act issued by Obama's executive order allowing the killing of eagles like his DACA Act.

First of all it's not rocket science, birds follow the wind currents when in flight, which in most time where wind turbines are located they end up at the foot of the turbines.

With regard to the duck & geese, they simply evaporate when they mistake the large solar farms for lakes.

For the past few years the Tribal people at the Campo, Manzanita and La Posta Indian Reservations have complained of an illness that seems to linger. The Indian Health Clinic that provides health services for the Tribal members in the area claim it os only a flu strain.

The three Reservation are isolated off of interstate 8 near the southern border of Mexico and about 50 miles from San Diego.

Is the U.S. Government using the American Indians living on the east San Diego County Indian Reservations as gunnie pigs?

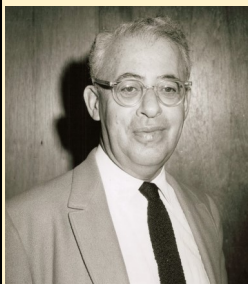

MY VIEW: I told myself not to do this, but like the bug in the movie "The Bugs," when he was told not to look at the light, he said. "I can't help it."

The post, "10 attributes of a Woke mind" was posted on Shayne's Journal, a daily Blog that providers a wealth of quality information for the American Indian Tribal Community.

More than 1m acres of Indigenous land flooded by dams, new study finds

More than a million acres of tribal land – an area larger than the state of Rhode Island – have been flooded by dams, compounding centuries of land seizures and forced displacement by settler colonialism and the US government, new research has found.

Land has always been central to Indigenous culture, sovereignty and prosperity, while land dispossession has been a mainstay strategy used to divide and disempower communities, by depriving Indigenous people of clean water, traditional food sources, spiritual connections and economic opportunities.

By overlaying geospatial data on tribal land boundaries with the reservoirs created by 7,900 major dams, researchers at Penn State and Arizona university found that 1.13 m acres of tribal land – an area larger than Great Smokey Land submerged by dams is in addition to more than 2bn acres The true figure is likely significantly higher, as reservoir data for tens of thousands of smaller dams is not available.

Mountains national park, Grand Teton national park, and Rocky Mountain national park combined – has been submerged underwater. – the equivalent of 97% of tribal territory taken through treaties, laws, purchases, violence and coercion since the arrival of colonial settlers more than 500 years ago.

Illegal Chinese Biolab Uncovered In California, What They Found Is Deeply Disturbing

Central CA Fresno County

A Chinese-linked company was found running an unlicensed California biolab that contained at least 20 potentially infectious diseases, including coronavirus, HIV, hepatitis, and herpes.

The warehouse was discovered by local and federal agents in Fresno County. The illegal and unlicensed laboratory was full of lab mice, medical waste, and hazardous materials.

Federal agents interviewed a man named Xiuquin Yao who was running a company at the warehouse called “Prestige BioTech.” Yao served as president of the company.

The company was registered in Nevada, but the owners used “empty offices or addresses in China that could not be verified,” according to court documents filed in the case. Prestige Bio-Tech was not licensed in California.

IRS to End Unannounced Visits to Private Homes and Businesses

(RightWing.org) - Republican lawmakers have debated the need to restrict the actions of the IRS in the wake of President Joe Biden’s efforts to weaponize the agency. In a rare move, the nation’s tax authority capitulated and said it would alter its policies and procedures regarding unannounced visits to private residences and businesses.

On July 24, the IRS issued a news release announcing a “major policy change” that would effectively end “most unannounced visits” to taxpayer residences and private businesses by the service’s revenue officers. The statement said officials decided to update its system to reduce public confusion and enhance the safety of agency workers and taxpayers.

The change will end the IRS’ long-standing practice of sending unarmored officers to taxpayers’ homes and businesses to resolve issues regarding past-due payments and unfiled returns. Moving forward, officers will send an IRS Form 725-B appointment letter. Recipients can use the notice to schedule an in-person meeting with an agency to resolve any outstanding issues.

XLE: The Oil And Gas Shortage Is About To Return With Force

Story by Harrison Schwartz * Read More @ Seeking Alpha

Summary

- The release of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve has artificially fixed the shortage, causing a decline in energy prices and inflation levels, but no improvement in production.
- Recent trends suggest a potential energy price rally triggered by significant declines in the oil and gas rig counts and OPEC+ actions.
- XLE, an energy ETF, may benefit from the potential rally due to its exposure to producers, explorers, and vertically integrated giants.
- I expect oil and gas production to decline for a prolonged period due to non-economic factors limiting drilling activity in the US and abroad.
- A decline in the US dollar could also contribute to higher oil and gas prices, benefiting most firms in XLE.

‘Smear parents’: Parental rights advocates sound the alarm as bill targeting parents moves through legislature

- In July, California’s Senate Bill 596, which would make it a misdemeanor for “any parent, guardian or other person” to cause “substantial disorder” at any public or charter school board meeting, continued to move through the committee.
- The bill aims to criminalize parents and will scare them into silence, California parental rights advocates told the Daily Caller News Foundation.

Tribe fights to preserve California coastline — and its own culture

AVILA BEACH/TPAXTU, Calif. — When Violet Sage Walker stares out at the calm waters butting against the shoreline of her hometown, she sees what was once the largest northern village of the Chumash people, who fished from traditional canoes in the open water, viewed sea creatures as their ancestors and believed in a “Western Gate” farther south where their spirits went after they passed away.

“All that is where we all lived,” Walker, one of the leaders of the Chumash tribe, said recently.

That coastal California shoreline and the water it touches are at the center of a reclamation movement led by the Indigenous Chumash tribe to revive and restore its heritage, culture and land. There are about 10,200 people with some Chumash ancestry left, according to the Census Bureau. Their effort is part of a nationwide “land back” movement by Native Americans to reclaim sacred sites. The Biden administration has established national landmarks for Native people and appointed the first Native American to a Cabinet secretary position, Interior Secretary Deb Haaland. Haaland, as well as other members of the Biden Cabinet, has spoken in favor of a Chumash marine sanctuary proposal.

His 4256 hits in his career lead MLB all-time as well as having played in the most games ever in his 24-year career. As a seventeen-time... yes you heard that right, a seventeen-time All-Star, one-time MVP, and Rookie of the Year it really is unbelievable that these mistakes he made kept him from entering Cooperstown.

NCAA approves changes to softball illegal pitch, obstruction rules

It will no longer be illegal for softball pitchers to have both feet off the ground at the same time according to changes approved by the NCAA Playing Rules Oversight Panel. The illegal pitch rule was one of several changes adopted by the panel for the 2023-24 season. Others include changes to the obstruction rule, video replay, and park configuration for new fields.

Beginning with the upcoming season, a pitcher is still prohibited from replanting her foot after pushing off the rubber. However, she can lift both off the ground because the panel determined that no advantage is gained by having both feet in the air while delivering a pitch.

‘Woke’ education demoralizes students, teaches that their ambition is dangerous: Jordan Peterson

In an interview, world-renowned psychologist Jordan Peterson slammed America’s education system for demoralizing young students.

Appearing on Fox News’ “One Nation” this Saturday, Peterson was asked by host Brian Kilmeade for his thoughts on a new study by Intelligent magazine.

Published on the 7th, the study “found that many business leaders thought recent college graduates were unprepared for the work environment and that some managers were trying to avoid hiring them,” as reported by Insider.

Part of the problem, he said, is that the education system has been “designed to do nothing more than demoralize young people and to convince them that their ambition is dangerous, and even world-threatening for that matter — a manifestation of patriarchal oppression on the social front and then a danger to the survival of the planet on the natural front.”

And well, he continued, if “you don’t do anything to foster that ambition and to channel it into a manner that might be productive, and to tell young people why their ambition might be useful, then you’re going to get exactly that,” which is lazy, unmotivated Gen Z employees.

Another part of the problem are the ill-prepared and “woke” teachers who themselves have been taught the wrong ideas.

“You have to be trained in a faculty of education to become a teacher. Why? They’re the most woke element of the entire rotten university carcass, and they have the hammer-lock on 50% of the state budget,” Peterson said.

Q+A: Broadband advocate Matthew Rantanen envisions a future of shared Indigenous knowledge and cool opportunities for tribes

It's a different world out there for broadband advocate Matthew Rantanen. Pre-COVID, work on getting Indian Country online moved slowly — one $100,000 tower a time, he told Tribal Business News.

Now, amid a “once in a career, potentially once in a lifetime” flow of federal funding into the tribal broadband sector, Rantanen sees tribes suddenly contending with million-dollar awards, trying to sort out how to effectively and quickly get entire communities connected at once.

“We have money flowing, we have tribal capacity-building in the technical space, we have states and the federal government trying to make sure there's deployment everywhere.”

There's activity and lots of opportunity,” Rantanen said.. “Now, it's how are we going to harness a fast moving effort to build out, and how are we going to most effectively employ that dollar to be able to build foundational infrastructure that can stand the test of time?”

Rantanen wears a lot of hats in Indian Country's emerging broadband sector. He's the director of technology for the Southern Tribal Chairman's Association, manages the Tribal Digital Village Network, and serves as the chair of technology for the National Congress of American Indians.

He also assists the Corporation for Education Network Initiatives in California's Golden State Network project, which aims to establish a new internet service provider in California and ensure that the state's 109 federally recognized tribes have their say in the network's rollout.

It's a lot of work, Rantanen says, but it also means he's had a front-row seat as Indian Country connectivity receives an unprecedented infusion of funding. Rantanen spoke with Tribal Business News to discuss what's ahead for broadband, and what challenges remain for tribes and tribal citizens trying to get online.

George Soros bankrolls mysterious institution looking to flip Texas to Democrats, records show

Financier George Soros is almost single-handedly bankrolling a mysterious Texas entity working to build up progressive infrastructure across the Lone Star State in attempts to elect more Democrats, records reviewed by Fox News Digital show.

According to Federal Election Commission filings released Monday, George Soros's Democracy PAC II has provided $750,000 to the Texas Majority PAC during the year's first half. Meanwhile, the Texas Majority PAC's state filings show that the group raised $752,040 during that time, meaning Soros has financially propelled the group.

Texas Majority PAC has maneuvered in the shadows, and virtually no information about the group is available online. Texas incorporation records show it registered in December 2022.

Its website doesn't appear in search engines like Google but can be found at texasmajoritypac.com. Even so, there are sparse details about the entity on its site.

Saul Alinsky's Doctrine: 8 steps to topple a na-

- 1) Healthcare — Control healthcare and you control the people
- 2) Poverty — Increase the Poverty level as high as possible, poor people are easier to control and will not fight back if you are providing everything for them to live.
- 3) Debt — Increase the debt to an unsustainable level. That way you are able to increase taxes, and this will produce more poverty.
- 4) Gun Control — Remove the ability to defend themselves from the Government. That way you are able to create a police state.
- 5) Welfare — Take control of every aspect of their lives (Food, Housing, and Income).
- 6) Education — Take control of what people read and listen to — take control of what children learn in school.
- 7) Religion — Remove the belief in the God from the Government and schools.
- 8) Class Warfare — Divide the people into the wealthy and the poor. This will cause more discontent and it will be easier to take (Tax) the wealthy with the support of the poor.
