The biggest 'Twitter Files' scandal has been overlooked 'The most egregious political scandal in recent history'

A Free Press for a Free People - Since 1997

In the flood of information from Elon Musk's release of internal Twitter documents - the "Twitter Files" - both pundits and the public are missing "the most egregious political scandal in recent history," contends Washington attorney and political commentator Margot Cleveland.

The big story, writes The Federalist's senior legal correspondent, is that the FBI "interfered in the 2020 election by lying to tech giants about the Hunter Biden laptop story to induce Twitter, Facebook, and likely others to censor the story."

The bureau targeted the New York Post's Oct. 14, 2020 article - "Smoking-Gun Email Reveals How Hunter Biden Introduced Ukrainian Businessman to VP Dad" - presenting emails, text messages and videos countering Joe Biden's claim he never discussed with his son the family's business of selling access to the White House.

The first edition of the "Twitter Files," by independent journalist Matt Taibbi, showed Twitter censored the Post's story based on its "hacked materials" policy and suspending the paper's official account.

Oregon gov't student health survey asks 11-year-olds if they are trans

DAILY CALLER NEWS FOUNDATION

The Oregon Department of Education is administering a 2022 student health survey that asks 11-year-olds if they are transgender, according to the Oregon government website.

Oregon's Student Health Survey is a state-wide test administered on a school-to-school basis to students in classrooms or online to "improve the health and well-being of students," according to the Oregon government website.

The 2022 survey asks sixth grade students if they are transgender and provides seven different gender identity options.

The sixth grade students were given several gender identity options including, two spirit, girl/woman, boy/man, demigirl, which is to feel both female and agender, demiboy, the feeling of being both male and agender, nonbinary, gender fluid, agender, which is having a lack of gender, and nogender.

The two spirit option is only to be chosen if the student identifies as American Indian or Alaska Native, the survey said.

All I want for Christmas is awareness of totalitarianism

CLICK HERE For Full Story @ BPR Business & Politics

Members of the Biden regime have demonstrated their totalitarian contempt for law and democratic procedures. They protect political allies, regardless of crimes, and persecute political enemies, regardless of evidence. The House January 6 committee criminal referral against Donald Trump for insurrection is a red flag of totalitarian manipulation. It is absurd to believe the few unarmed, unorganized people who entered the Capitol were trying to overthrow the government. However, the truth matters not to the Biden regime and its congressional enablers. The committee abandoned procedural safeguards and decided its verdict before assessing the evidence. The committee had two purposes: (1) to distract from what a real investigation should examine, and

(2) to demonize the Biden regime's political enemies: Trump, his supporters, and all Americans who can see and communicate the truth. Almost all protesters in Washington, DC, on January 6 believed in their legitimate cause and were exercising their constitutional rights. So were elected representatives challenging the questionable election.

U.S. Marines told to stop using 'sir,' 'ma'am' to avoid risk of 'misgendering' superiors

"Biological Science & Genesis: Two Genders, Man & Woman, it's been that way since the beginning." MY VIEW Ernie C. Salgado, Jr., American Indian Reporter

A new lengthy study is recommending that the Marine Corps goes woke and ridiculously bans recruits from respectfully addressing senior officers, specifically drill instructors, as "sir" or "ma'am" so they won't misgender or offend those who outrank them. Evidently, not even the Marine Corps is immune from pansification as pronoun hysteria sweeps the ranks of the US military. A $2 million report that was commissioned by the Marine Corps from the University of Pittsburgh came up with the ludicrous recommendation. The exhaustive study, which is 738 pages long, was first commissioned in 2020. All that money and effort came up with the daft conclusion that traditional ways of addressing superiors were holding back gender integration. "Employing gender-neutral identifiers eliminates the possibility of misgendering drill instructors, which can unintentionally offend or cause discord," the study concluded. "By teaching recruits to use gender-neutral identifiers for their drill instructors, Services underscore the importance of respecting authoritative figures regardless of gender."

'This is insane.' New round of Twitter Files drills down on CIA, FBI, DoD 'dizzying' amount of meddling in free speech

The latest "Twitter Files" dropped just in time for Christmas and, as journalist Matt Taibbi demonstrated how the FBI wasn't the only agency working on censorship and how Twitter wasn't the only tech company involved, as one user put it, "This is insane." By this point, the release of internal communications from Twitter has clearly shown how pervasive the bureau's influence had been in moderating content on the social media platform to suit the desired narrative. As previously reported, the agency responded to accusations of impropriety, not with a denial, but with derision, and claimed, "It is unfortunate that conspiracy theories and others are feeding the American public misinformation with the sole purpose of attempting to discredit the agency."

Taibbi fired back with a thread on "OTHER GOVERNMENT AGENCIES" that lead many to conclude, "The FBI and CIA are directly meddling in all the tech companies to control the speech of regular Americans," and after imparting the need to review the whole thing, "This is insane."

Fresh off previously being suspended on "The View" for controversial statements concerning the Holocaust, co-host Whoopi Goldberg doubled down on the issue once again claiming that the Jewish genocide was not about race, proving she is historically ignorant when it comes to Nazi Germany. "My best friend said, 'Not for nothing is there no box on the census for the Jewish race. So that leads me to believe that we're probably not a race,'" Goldberg recounted to the Sunday Times of London in an interview while promoting her new movie "Till." *"Remember who they were killing first. The Ojibwe band believes it could be the first of the 574 federally recognized tribes to designate a spot on tribal IDs for organ donors

The Ojibwe band believes it could be the first of the 574 federally recognized tribes to designate a spot on tribal IDs for organ donors

Greyson Parisien’s time on earth was short. But the boy with dark-rimmed eye-glasses who was enchanted by the music in “Frozen,” the sound of ripping paper and his dad playing the guitar is having an outsized impact on his tribal community in the far reaches of North Dakota.

His journey to correct a heart defect led the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa Indians to add an organ donation box to tribal IDs, which it unveiled during a November ceremony.

The rate of organ donations among Native Americans is much lower than other ethnic groups. For some tribes, cultural beliefs are a factor. In rural communities, time, distance and spotty internet access can hinder the process.

“You don’t think about donation and how many people are not donors,” said Greyson’s grandmother, Joan Azure. “I was thinking, ‘There has to be more donors.’ When you’re going through this personally, you don’t want someone to die but you also want your child to live.”

WE BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW THIS SMALL TOWN IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WAS HOME TO THE WORLD'S BIGGEST DINOSAUR SCULPTURES

The desert town of Cabazon in Riverside County has become quite a tourist destination and is known for its open-air premium outlet shopping center and (the Morongo Tribal) casino resort.

But it has also become known for a quirky, yet impressive, roadside attraction. You may even have heard about the dinosaur sculptures in Southern California, but did you know that they hold the world record for being the biggest of their kind?

The Cabazon Dinosaurs are an iconic Southern California roadside (I-10) attraction. They are a big part of local pop culture, having appeared in quirky films like Pee Wee Herman’s Big Adventure and a music video for the group Tears for Fears. It all started with the construction of the Wheel Inn Cafe in 1958. To attract attention to it, the owner decided to build a life-size dinosaur.

“The critical race theory curriculum is not about hate, it’s about social justice as originally professed by Karl Marx”

Adam Schiff popped up on CNN’s “State of The Union” show Sunday (Dec.18, 2022) morning to issue barely veiled threats to Elon Musk for trying to restore free speech on Twitter.

Ostensibly, the lame duck chairman of the House Intelligence Committee joined Jake Tapper to crow about expected charges against Donald Trump Monday from his January 6 star chamber.

But Schiff moved on to complain about the “big problem right now with social media companies and their failure to moderate content and the explosion of hate on Twitter, the banning of journalists on Twitter.”

...Schiff is a calculated propagandist, who lies under oath as easily as breathing, and knowingly peddles misinformation to Congress and to media outlets like CNN and MSNBC, whose gullible hosts keep bringing him back on their shows to mislead their audiences.

Jhane Myers talks with ICT about hitting the mark in 'Prey' *Update

ALEX JACOBS • NOV 4, 2022

Jhane Myers knew what she wanted to achieve with the hit film, “Prey.” She wanted a film about a strong, Indigenous woman with an all-Native cast and crew. She got that and more — a popular prequel to the “Predator” series that hit highs in the film industry no one could have predicted. The movie, with a version in the Comanche language, broke records for a new film or series. And it is even generating Oscar talk for the foreign language category, though it would need to be released in theaters to qualify. But it could be eligible for any number of other awards as well. Myers, Comanche/Blackfeet, was the creative producer of the 20th Century Studios movie, starring Amber Midthunder, Dakota Beavers, Michelle Thrush and Dane DiLiegro.

Sharice Davids secures Indian Health Service advanced appropriations, other critical funding priorities for Indian Country

Bill finally places IHS among other federal health care programs that receive advanced appropriations

Indian Country Today

On December 23, Representative Sharice Davids successfully passed critical funding measures and budget increases benefitting tribal communities and Indian Country as a whole, including the longtime priority of securing advanced appropriations for the Indian Health Service (IHS).

Davids voted to pass this and other priorities through the overall government funding bill, avoiding a harmful shutdown and sending them to the President's desk to be signed into law.

"I've long joined Native health advocates and tribal leaders to call for increased stability in Indian Health Service programs, and today we achieved that. This will ensure that patients are not subject to the uncertainty of the government funding process, saving lives and creating stronger, healthier communities," said Davids. "Along with increased funding for education, housing, and economic development, this bill brings us closer to upholding our federal trust and treaty obligations to American Indian and Alaska Native communities."

In addition, Davids voted to pass several other notable priorities for Native American communities, including:

- Increasing funding by 9% to the Bureau of Indian Education.
- Expanding the Tribal Housing Relending Demonstration program in USDA Rural Development.
- Increasing funding to $75 million for the Indian Energy Policy and Programs and updating the Tribal Loan Guarantee Program to help Tribal Nations deploy clean energy.
- Providing new funds to start electrifying the 30,000 tribal homes that do not have access to power.
- Increasing funding by $2 million for the Tribal Colleges and Universities Head Start Partnership Program, totaling $8 million.
- Creating a new, five-year Native VetSuccess at Tribal Colleges and Universities Pilot to provide on-campus benefits assistance and counseling to veterans and their family members enrolled at tribal colleges and universities.

Labor: "What does this bring to mind?"

Slaves building the Pyramids? Images of souls toiling in the fields under the whip of an overseer? Children working in factories? The young women of the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory? Miners working and dying below ground? Your kids complaining about chores?

A traditional tribal community in which each individual had a role to play in the survival and wealth of the People? (The) Mission Indians (in southern California) toiling under (the Catholic Church) friars?

Each image has a strong and indelible imprint on our history and legacy.

Using the seamstress as an example, we see that they were essential for clothing production and related trades from the seventeenth century onward.

The next expansion was not initially dependent on technological developments, but on the pool of women workers, their expendability and cheapness to their employers.

Effectively guaranteed by the sheer number of uneducated women. lacking of alternative employment, outside the control of guilds and latterly under-unionized they goods for the increasing market for ready-made basic clothes. Their history was/is largely anonymous.

Guilds, the "Labor Movement", Unionization, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration represent over 150 years (and more in some areas) of efforts to ensure safe and healthful working conditions for workers by setting and enforcing standards and by providing training, outreach, education and assistance.

This history involves many stories of man's inhumanity to man, silent confrontations and political mayhem.

Underlying of course is the economic struggles of competing theories of to whom the profits of this activity belong.....an individual? a community? a corporation? a political entity?

The world evolved from an agrarian to an industrialized society causing all sorts of new scenarios. Instead of quietly starving -or thriving- on one's own plot of land within a small community, people moved to slums or fine neighborhoods depending on their "status" within the pecking order.

Most persons are aware of what happened to the slaves on plantations and the economic shifts of the "industries" that were built on their labor: cotton, tobacco, turpentine, food items, etc. Readership hopefully understands and appreciates the impact of the "Relocation Programs".

And in the late 70's, TERO (Tribal Employment Rights Ordinance) began to be adopted by many tribes.

Now we live in a different, emergent reality.

As the internet arrived in our lives around the turn of the 21st Century, I remember thinking that we would have to totally adjust our thinking on this topic.

Although there are vast areas where electronics have not taken over daily lives, remote home work became possible and given a great boost by the COVID conflagration. It is possible to work for a Boston-based company and live in Trenton, Missouri.

It is possible for a tribe to contract with any fed agency (or corporation) needing data processing, creating manpower resource strictly within the reservation. From education to health care to entertainment - so many innovations are evolving.

Wages are still an issue as evidenced by the strikes in vogue; even academic workers whose physical working conditions are those of which a field hand may have dreamt, have issues as do nurses, mental health workers, and on and on.

And on a wider scope, "microchips are the new oil - the scarce resource on which the modern world depends. Today, military, economic, and geopolitical power are built on a foundation of computer chips. Virtually everything from missiles to microwaves, smartphones to the stock market runs on chips. Until recently, America designed and built the fastest chips and maintained its lead to maintain its lead as the superpower.

But now America's edge is slipping, undermined by competitors in Taiwan, Korea, Europe, and, above all, China. As Chip War reveals, China, which spends more money each year importing chips than it spends importing oil, is pouring billions into a chip-building initiative to catch up to the US. At stake is America's military superiority and economic prosperity." (Chris Miller -Chip War: The Fight for the World's Most Critical Technology)

Why are these topics in this article? Only to remind you that it is a different world, and although some of us are rooted in the 20th Century, our community policies and our skill-building programs need to take this history - and this unknown future - into account with each goal setting and budgetary activity.

Sen. Joni Ernst slams Biden for shelling out $5M to group dedicated to policing free speech

With so much taxpayer money going to so many woke causes, it's hard to keep track of them all, but Sen. As BizPac Review reported earlier this month, the National Science Foundation (NSF) — whose mission is to “protect and improve human health” — threw $5 million to a group led by Hacks/Hackers, which, according to its website is an “international grassroots community of people who seek to inspire and inform each other to build the future of media.”

Go woke go broke, indeed! Disney on track for worst stock performance in nearly 50 years, and that’s not all

CLICK HERE For Full Story @ BPR Business & Politics

Disney is reportedly on track for its worst stock performance in nearly 50 years, and critics say it’s no surprise given how “woke” the company has become.

The stock price was, as of Friday morning, (December 23, 2022) at $87.67/share, precipitously down from a high of $197.16 recorded on March 12th, 2021.

But it’s not just the stock price that’s on the decline. So are sales, it would appear. Indeed, underperforming sales of the latest film, “Avatar: The Way Of Water,” are partially to blame for the extra-low current stock price.

“It’s the performance of the Avatar sequel which has caused Disney stock to tumble in recent days. While the box office figures haven’t been a total flop, they’ve fallen short of expectations given the huge budget for the film. The disappointing result has caused Disney stock to fall 7.93% over the past five days,” Forbes reported Wednesday. (December 21, 2022)

Stanford University guide of ‘harmful language’ includes calling US citizens ‘American’

American colleges and universities have been at the tip of the spear when it comes to the cultural revolution to remake the nation into a place more compatible with the left’s degenerate values, with institutions of higher learning leading the way when it comes to scrubbing the English language to better indoctrinate the younger generation, and the latest example comes from California’s prestigious Stanford University.

Biden administration's new 'woke' billion-dollar grant program will further divide America: Ben Carson

Biden administration's newly announced $1.5 billion USDOT grant funding toward transportation infrastructure projects benefiting environmental sustainability, promotion of union jobs and racial equity will be just the latest endeavor to further divide America, former HUD Secretary Dr. Ben Carson told Fox News on Friday. (Dec. 16, 2022)

The money is being offered under USDOT's Rebuilding American Infrastructure with Sustainability and Equity (RAISE) discretionary grant program: "As was the case last year, the department is encouraging applicants to consider how their projects can address climate change, ensure racial equity, and remove barriers to opportunity," the DOT said according to a previous Fox News report.

On "Hannity," Carson lamented the new massive expenditure, saying it clashed with the Trump administration's belief that a "rising tide floats all boats" when it comes to deciding on similar endeavors.

CIVIL WAR

The woke have given us a choice: Shut up or die

Exclusive: Mike Pottage asserts, 'Modern philosophy is like a rocket ride to the Stone Age'

Socialists have decided to divorce themselves from the United States of America, citing irreconcilable differences.

A common theme runs through the divorce proceedings. If you are Christian, you do not deserve to live. You may not greet, eat, meet, or exist. You should die, preferably by your own hand, but socialists will step up if you do not shut up.

It is difficult to imagine a resolution to such irrationality that does not include violent civil war. When someone hunts you down and shouts "kill" the left's violence leaves outsiders with only one option: to fight back.

Feds took down statistics when gun-control activists told them to.

“Emails reveal influence over government agency”

A federal agency removed from its The Daily Caller News Foundation website references to its own gun statistics when gun control activists complained the information made gun control laws more difficult to get.

That was estimated at between 60,000 and 2.5 million "based on a review of various studies," the emails exchanged between the Centers for Disease Control and the gun control activists.

Welcome home, to America, the Land of The Free, Home of the Brave!

Brittney Griner; Dear Mrs. Griner, We hope this letter finds you in good health and we understand you are having some rough times in your life.

We are a group of old Vietnam Combat Veterans from North Carolina. Our average age is around seventy years old. We call ourselves, The Bunker Boys.

We spent a lot of time living in rat and snake infested holes in the ground known as Bunkers. When we were not in the bunkers we were crawling through the jungle being shot at and shooting back at little people wearing black pajamas.

We must be honest and tell you that the only thing we may have in common with you, is that we too, were drafted.

We noticed you were drafted number one in the WNBA draft a few years ago. Since we all were drafted we thought we might let you know what it was like when we were drafted. Unlike you, most of us had no college.

The people of the United States drafted us. We consisted of all colors, religions and personal beliefs. We had no choice of which team we played for; Army, Navy, Air Force or Marines.

We were sent halfway around the world to fight and kill people we didn't know in a place we had never heard of. We were paid, we know you can relate to this, $3.00 a day and required to work 24 hours a day if needed.

When we returned home many or most of us were treated very badly by our fellow Americans. We were spit on, hit by bottles and rocks as the police stood by and watched. We did not complain, we just continued on in life and made the best of it.

We fought for God, family, country and of course, the Flag and the National Anthem; a poem that was written by, of all people, a lawyer. He wrote the poem as he watched bombs fall on and kill fellow Americans. Ever since that night, our nation has played that little poem before millions of social functions.

For some people it's just a little song. For a Veteran it is a reminder of how many men and women of all colors, have given their life so the rest can have the right to be free.

We found in our research that you requested the National Anthem not be played at sporting events. We find it odd that now you are requesting the citizens of the United States to pay for your release from a jail in Russia.

Yes, we the taxpayers are paying for all of those diplomats working on your release. Our Government told you, and all fellow Americans in Russia, to leave Russia after the invasion of the Ukraine. You play basketball in a country that is known to treat Americans badly.

You fly a great deal and must know by now, all the rules of what one can bring into a country. All of us that travel know the rules for entering a foreign country. You are a guest and must go by the rules of the land.

By your own admission, you were attempting to bring an illegal substance into a country that is known for its long prison sentences. You had to know this because you are making a million dollars a year to play a game and hold a college degree.

At six feet nine inches tall, you know that security officers are going to focus on you from the moment you stand in the boarding pass line.

We also noticed that you are now saying you placed the drugs in your luggage by accident. Please, that is something an 18 year old would say.

We also found out that your net worth is somewhere around $ 5 million bucks for playing a game. For old guys like us, living on a fixed income, that's a lot of money for just playing a game.

Don't get us wrong; we are not against you. We all went and fought so all Americans can have the freedom to make their own choices. We just hope the next time you have to endure the playing of that little poem, you will pay close attention to the, " Land of the free," part.

Wishing you the very best, The Bunker Boys...

Biden skewered for ‘ridiculous tall tale’ about giving uncle a ‘Purple Heart’: ‘Biggest serial liar elected’

Conservatives on Twitter blasted President Joe Biden for telling another "ridiculous tall tale" about himself in a speech, claiming that his uncle won a Purple Heart for his actions during World War II.

Critics slammed the claim, asserting there is no evidence it is true.

Biden made the remarks during a town hall for U.S. veterans in Delaware on Friday. At one point during his speech, the president stated, "My dad, when I got elected vice president [in 2008], he said, 'Joey, Uncle Frank fought in the Battle of the Bulge.' He was not feeling in September 2002 – more than six years before his very well now – not because of the Battle of the Bulge, but he said, 'and he won the Purple Heart and he never received it. He never got it. Do you think you could help him get it? We will surprise him.'"

He continued, claiming, "So I got him the Purple Heart. He had won it in the Battle of the Bulge. And I remember he came over the house and I came out and [my father] said, 'Present it to him, okay?' We had the family there."

Biden concluded the story, claiming he gave the medal to his uncle despite his Frank's humble protests.

Though the New York Post shot holes through the story in a Friday report, stating, "The known facts indicate it's not true. Biden's father, Joseph R. Biden Sr., died in September 2002 – more than six years before his son was elected vice president. Frank Biden, Joe Sr.'s brother, died in 1999."

Feds launch investigation of anti-Semitism at Berkeley . 'Hostile environment' reported to the Office of Civil Rights

The Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights (OCR) announced that it is launching an investigation into the University of California Berkeley Law School due to concerns of anti-Zionism.

Gabriel Groisman, an attorney and partner at LSN Law, P.A., and Arsen Ostrovsky, an Israel-based attorney, and CEO of The International Legal Forum filed a complaint with the OCR on Nov. 18, according to the Cleveland Jewish News. The complaint came as a result of multiple student groups adopting Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions bylaws associated with the pro-Palestine movement, that banned pro-Israel speakers from their chapters.

The OCR agreed Tuesday (December 13, 2022) to conduct an official investigation into the "hostile environment" at U.C. Berkeley Law, according to the Cleveland Jewish News.
