Marine vet charged in subway chokehold is Alvin Bragg's 'sacrificial lamb' for the race card: attorney

THE Marine veteran charged by New York County District Attorney Alvin Bragg in connection with the death of a disturbed homeless man with a long rap sheet is prime evidence of the left-wing office.

The indicted veteran, Daniel Penny, initially reported himself to NYPD officers after the chaotic situation on a Queens bound F Train near Broadway-Lafayette station that ultimately left Jordan Neely dead. Neely reportedly became irate without prompting and threw articles of clothing down, leading Penny to apply a chokehold to him.

Los Angeles civil rights attorney Leo Terrell keyed into the fact police let Penny go without charges after he essentially turned himself in, causing an activist uproar and potentially being the impetus for Bragg to independently file charges.

The big question ... is why - why the Marine [veteran] and not the other individuals who helped him? I mean, why weren't they charged for anything? They weren't charged at all." Terrell said Friday on "The Story with Martha MacCallum."

DOJ to release controversial 'anti-discrimination' policy on anniversary of George Floyd's death; report

Read More @ American Wire

The Biden Department of Justice reportedly plans to release a new anti-discrimination policy for federal law enforcement officers on the upcoming third-year anniversary of Minneapolis criminal suspect George Floyd's May 25th, 2020 death.

Citing documents and insiders within the DOJ, The Daily Caller reported on Tuesday (May 16, 2023) that "federal law enforcement officers will be prohibited from using neighborhood crime statistics in law enforcement activities and will be banned from considering ethnicity when developing sources within foreign terrorist organizations."

Federal law enforcement officers will specifically be banned from using a person's "actual or perceived race, ethnicity, gender, nationality, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, sex characteristics, disability status, or gender identity" in "any degree."

"A specific example ... is 'high crime areas' typically subject to 'aggressive law enforcement.' Directly or indirectly using protected characteristics to find suspects 'reflects and invites bias,' making it prohibited by the proposed DOJ guidelines," according to The Daily Caller.

MY VIEW by Ernie C. Salgado Jr. First, just a little recap of the infamous day of May 25, 2020 death of George Floyd.

Floyds was arrest that day on a felony crime and complained of having difficulty breathing. The arresting offices call for an ambulance.

Upon the arrival of Minneapolis Police Officer Derek Chauvin Floyd became more agitated due to his breathing difficulties which Chauvin mistook as being uncooperative and put him in an approved restraint position, "the knee on neck hold" that doesn't impair the airway or reduce the flow of air.

The coroners autopsy stated that George Floyd died from an overdose of drugs which cause the lack of oxygen as his lungs were filled with fluid.

Officer Derek Chauvin was convicted in connection with the Floyds death and his fellow law enforcement offices have also been convicted of aiding and abetting in the death of George Floyd.

Floyd was a street thug, drug abuser and career criminal and for some absurd reason the woke people have been successful in promoting him as a victim.

They have gone so far as to create a bronze statue of his likeness as they tear down memorials of real American hero's and leaders.

History will prove that a great injustice has been done against these police officers and our justice system has been reduced to mob rule and politics.

The George Floyd myth continues to be exploited by the DOJ controversial 'anti-discrimination' policy.

The anti-discrimination policy appears to be an effort eliminate race as an identification factor and it goes off the chart from there into woke la la land.

LARRY KUDLOW: Merrick Garland is covering up a massive scandal of Hunter Biden's tax evasions

Larry
Kudlow

American economist

How do we keep the FBI out of the next presidential election? And the CIA? And the Justice Department? And, for that matter, the whole left-wing rat's nest known as the Washington D.C. swamp? Because, if something dramatically doesn't change, they're going to do it again. (Is already to late?) Best political cartoons: Uncle Sam has cancer! - Ameri-

In all the post-mortems about the Durham report, there's one crucial question that has not yet been asked: How do we keep the FBI out of the next presidential election? And the CIA? And the Justice Department? And, for that matter, the whole left-wing rat's nest known as the Washington D.C. swamp? Because, if something dramatically doesn't change, they're going to do it again.

Just the other day, the Justice Department ordered the IRS investigative team to stop looking at Hunter Biden's tax fraud schemes.

In other words, a cover-up to protect and re-elect Joe Biden. In other words, they're doing it again!

Let's be clear about this. Merrick Garland, the hyper politicizing attorney general who takes his orders from Joe Biden, is covering up a massive scandal of Hunter Biden's tax evasions and all these family and friends LLCs, getting money from China, Ukraine, Romania and Lord knows where else, and channeling some of this money to, first, the vice president of the U.S., one Joe Biden, and now the president of the U.S., the same Joe Biden.

Now, this bribery pay for play scheme has not been proven yet. These are allegations, but I think most Americans have come to believe, in the worst case, sleaziest potential outcome of this story and with good reason and, if folks are focused on the Durham report, they're going to be even more cynical.

I want to get back to what John Durham advocated for in his report: "strict fidelity to the law." Thinking out loud about this, I believe we're going to need a thorough-going house-cleaning of personnel.

Despite no embalming, nun's body still 'intact' 4 years after death

Contributed by Andrea Marquez, Soboba Indian Rez, So. CA

Sister Wilhelmina Lancaster died four years ago, but when her body was exhumed this month at the monastery she founded in Missouri, leaders were shocked to find her remains still seemingly intact. Lancaster was never embalmed and was buried in a cracked wooden coffin.

Though there was apparently "a mask of thick mold" on the remains due to the high levels of condensation within the cracked coffin, both Lancaster and the habit she wore were "incorrupt," the Catholic News Agency reported.

In Catholicism, "incorrupt" remains — or rather, a body that has not decomposed — is perceived as a sign of holiness and can be an indicator for potential sainthood.

Thousands of people have travelled to Missouri this month to view the remains of Sister Wilhelmina Lancaster, whose body was seemingly intact four years after her death.© Benedictines of Mary, Queen of Apostles Monastery.

Say No To critical race theory

MY VIEW Ernie C. Salgado Jr.
The Department of Justice was behind the targeting of Mark Houck and he is spot on in his analysis that it was designed to “instill fear.”

The DOJ had the FBI raid the homes of several individuals that participated in the January 6, 2020 protest. While telling the American public that it didn’t have the human resources to protect the Supreme Court Justices’ from violent protestors. Think about that for minute.

The weaponization of various government agencies by the controlling political Party is not new to American politics. However, the Obama and current Biden Rule have taken it to a new unprecedented level. Although the Obama reign was a bit more subtle than the current Biden blatant Gestapo tactics, it set the stage for lawlessness and corruption we see now.

Although Mark Houck did get some news coverage it was limited. For every Mark Houck there are a very large number of American citizens that have had their Constitutional Rights violated by the FBI, DOJ or IRS and many other government agencies that is never reported by the mainstream media.

One good example is when the Attorney General of the United States of American, Merrick Garland directed the FBI to investigate the parent that objected to the “critical race theory” curriculum at the National School Board Associations meeting. He labled then “Domestic Terrorists” and was planning to have them arrested as such. However, the public backlash caused him to stop.

Here’s the kicker, are you ready for this? This is a fact. Merrick Garland’s son-in-law is the national distributor of the “critical race theory” curriculum.

Many of the Jan. 6th protestors are sitting in solitary confinement jail cells for over 2-years and not allow bail. Yet, the FBI is not sure where Hunter laptop is.

Anyone that speaks out against the Marxist woke agenda may find themselves in some deep unprocessed sewage. Time to wake up America, you think?

A pro-life father detailed his experience of being targeted by the FBI for his beliefs about abortion during a House Judiciary Committee hearing on Tuesday, (May 16, 2023) saying that his arrest was intended to “instill fear” in the pro-life movement.

Mark Houck testified during the committee hearing on Tuesday about the FBI’s use of the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act (FACE), which “prohibits threats of force, obstruction and property damage intended to interfere with reproductive health care services,” during his arrest and subsequent trial in 2022. Houck said in response to a question from Republican Rep. Jim Jordan of Ohio that his arrest was designed to “instill fear” into the pro-life movement.

“You volunteered to turn yourself in,” Jordan said.

“And yet they show up at your house, 20 agents, guns drawn in front of your family, in front of your kids. Why do you think they did it?”

Houck replied that he had been “thinking about that for many months,” and said that the FBI was trying to “humiliate me and scare my children and instill fear in pro-life America.”

University of California moves toward hiring undocumented students despite federal law

The Hill

The University of California (UC) system is moving toward hiring undocumented students for student-employment positions despite federal law banning the practice.

UC President Michael Drake and Board of Regents Chair Richard Leib said in a statement on Thursday that the board has appointed a working group that will consider relevant issues to ensuring all students have employment opportunities regardless of the immigration status. The group will develop an implementation plan and legal strategy by November and whether, how and when to take the next steps.

“The University is committed to ensuring that all students, regardless of their immigration status, can pursue and attain a world-class UC education,” they said. “This should include providing enriching student employment opportunities to all students.”

Jim Brown, legendary running back and civil rights activist, dead at 87

Jim Brown, a preternatural talent on the football field and later both a movie star and civil rights activist, has died. He was 87 years old.

Brown was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1971 and is in the conversation as the greatest football players ever. He was chosen for the NFL's 50th, 75th and 100th anniversary teams and selected as the greatest college football player of all-time at the 2020 College Football National Championship.

He was the No. 6 overall pick in the 1957 NFL Draft by the Cleveland Browns -- he was one of four Hall of Famers selected in the top 8 picks -- and won Rookie of the Year.

He played just nine seasons in the NFL, all with the Browns, before a contract dispute eventually led him to walk away from the game for good for a lucrative movie career. But in those nine seasons he led the league in rushing eight times and made the Pro Bowl every season.

I'm not surprised that Cori Bush is one of the sponsors after all. She also voted against the celebration of fallen police officers. This is just another arrow in her quill against the values of this nation.*

It's really weaponizing race. She makes a false claim and others do that. This is necessary because the legacy of slavery and discrimination is resulted in the kind of out-of-wedlock births, and the violence and chaos you see in the city.

This is patently untrue. I was born during the Depression 1937, and in my poor neighborhood there were holes in our shoes but not in our character and in our faith. Elderly people could walk safely. These families are fear of being mugged by their grandchildren. Babies were not shot. I've never heard of gunfire, babies were not shot in their cribs the way they are today.

So it's ironic that these people, like Cori Bush, is pushing an agenda that is really antithetical to the interests of Black Americans.

Americans' faith in God declining. Here's how it could decide elections for years

'This should send chills down the backs of Democrats that have embraced this hostility'

The United States has become dramatically more secular over the past 10 years, a trend that has benefited the Democratic Party at the expense of the GOP, meaning Republicans must recalibrate their electoral strategy, according to religious advocates that spoke with the Daily Caller News Foundation.

The popularity of religion has been declining in the U.S. for decades, and data from the 2020 U.S. Religion Census has shown that as regions dispense with religion, they tend to lean more favorably toward Democrats, while religious Americans have sided more with Republicans, according to a Politico analysis. In light of this, religious advocates that spoke with the DCFNF said that Republicans should stress issues that both mobilize religious voters and appeal to non-religious Americans to expand their base, as the electorate will increasingly be polarized along the axis of faith.

"We see parents concerned about the secular ideology being taught to their kids, whether it's the transgender issue or whether it's the stuff of surrounding COVID fear-mongering," Tony Perkins, president of the Family Research Council, a Christian research and educational nonprofit, told the DCFNF. "These parents that object are equated to domestic terrorists. Clearly, the Democratic Party is making its future with a secular white suburban voter that is indifferent to religion, and even hostile to it, whereas the Republican Party, their future, if they are to succeed, is going to need to be increasingly aligned with those who have an appreciation for, if not a participation in, religion."

Census data found that areas such as Florida's Miami-Dade county, where Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton won by 30 points over former President Donald Trump in 2016, saw an increase in religious communities by 12%. As a result, the county drifted toward Republicans in 2020, with President Joe Biden's lead in the county clocking in at only seven points.

EDUCATION SEC. TRIGGERS TSUNAMI OF BACKLASH BY SAYING TEACHERS, NOT PARENTS, ‘KNOW WHAT IS BEST FOR THEIR KIDS’

Biden administration Education Secretary Miguel Cardona triggered a whirlwind of backlash Friday when he tweeted that teachers — and thus not parents — know what’s best for children.

“Teachers know what is best for their kids because they are with them every day. We must trust teachers,” He wrote in the tweet.’

Yet polling data has consistently shown that a majority of American voters support the Republican Party’s push for parental rights.

One CRC Research poll published in March on behalf of Parents Defending Education found that “71% of registered voters support legislation requiring schools to tell parents if their child wants to change their gender identity at school, while 75% of registered voters support legislation requiring schools to acquire parental consent before helping a student transition.”

But none of this data seems to matter to Democrats, particularly the ones in the Biden administration.

No matter what arguments are made and what data is shown, Democrats remain convinced — as demonstrated by Cardona’s tweet — that teachers know best, and that parents need to butt out and mind their business.

Parents, however, continue to strongly, strongly, strongly disagree.

MY VIEW Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.: History has a tendency of repeating it’s self, if you let it. Germany 1930’s I believe, during the “Transformation” from a Democracy to a “Socialist Democracy.” But in reality it was a dictatorship. Yes, it’s history but a few still remember the inhumanities and deaths of 90 million people. Then again, for most people under the age of 80 it would be ancient history.

Ancient history or not, the all-out attack on the children in America is real. The gender identity garbage is dangerous. The “White People” are now the Jews of Hitler’s Germany and the “Privileged” as promoted by the current Karl Marx propaganda literature, best defined as the “critical race theory.” it’s to the bone Commie!

But then there were 3 equally good arguments that Jesus was Italian:

 3. He loved green pastures.

But the most compelling evidence of all, 3 proofs that Jesus was a woman:
 1. She fed a crowd at a moment's notice when there was virtually no food
 2. She kept trying to get a message across to a bunch of men who just didn't get it
 3. And even when She was dead, She had to get up because there was still work to do.
