AMERICAN INDIAN TRIBAL NEWS * ERNIE C. SALGADO JR., CEO, PUBLISHER/EDITOR

DJ Daniel, a 13-year-old brain cancer survivor with a dream of working in law enforcement, visited President Donald Trump in the Oval Office of the White House just hours after warming millions of hearts Tuesday night when he was named an honorary Secret Service member during the president's joint address to Congress.

In a video shared on X, Daniel could be seen standing next to Trump in the Oval Office before saying, "There's one more thing I got for ya: a big hug."

The president responds, "OK good, that's very nice," as they embrace.

Trump then shakes Daniel's father's hand and asks how he is doing, before adding, "That was a big evening last night, right? That was a big evening."

The Texas boy's expression during the surprise Tuesday night went viral on social media, along with video of his father holding him up in the air to hug director of the U.S. Secret Service Sean Curran, who presented him with a customized Secret Service badge.

"I was not expecting it," Daniel told "Fox & Friends" co-host Steve Doocy on Wednesday. "Nobody even told us [it was going to happen]."

Doctors gave him just five months to live after his brain cancer diagnosis in 2018, yet he survived and endured numerous surgeries.

It was a very sad day for American to witness the collapse of a Political Party representing almost half of the American people. There is no lucid justification for the insulting behavior for the decorum of the Congress of America.

MY VIEW: Ernie C. Salgado, Jr. As a strong believer in God, Jesus Christ and the Virgin Mary and as an American Rez Indian with deep rooted Tribal conservative traditions, customs and Values, I don't always agree or support President Trump when he berates, harangues or criticizes Socialist Democrats for mocking him, opposing his strategies and ideologies.

As a highly intelligent and Christian man he should follow the teachings of Jesus Christ and pray for those poor souls of Gods creation lacking the grey matter to process logical thinking.

However, when it comes to the pure evilness we have witnessed during the Obama & Biden years & as it continues its toxic dogma on the American people is a serious threat to America. Anti-Christianity, multi genders & sexual grooming of 1st and 2nd grade children is only the tip of the evilness & it must be ended.

Up to a dozen members of Congress reportedly have mental faculties so diminished they can no longer do their jobs — with some even showing up drunk or stoned to cast votes.

Rep. Nicole Malliotakis says many days on the Hill remind her of "Veep." Getty Images

"There's no question that somewhere between six and a dozen of my colleagues are at a point where they're ... I think they don't have the faculties to do their job," Rep. Jim Himes (D-Conn) told Politico, which spoke to 25 members of the House and Senate who spilled the tea on their unnamed colleagues. A Republican colleague concurred, with an important addendum.

"I have a difficult time sometimes telling between the deterioration of members and a handful who are just not very smart," the unnamed lawmaker said.

After President Biden's 2024 presidential campaign spectacular collapse due to his age-related cognitive issues, the issue of elected officials hanging on past their expiration date has come sharply into focus — with neither chamber of Congress being spared.

Indicted House Democrat under fire for being on DCCC's 'frontline' list: 'Sleazy politician'

Rep. Henry Cuellar, who is facing charges of bribery and acting as a foreign agent, is now on the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee's "frontline list" for the 2026 election, which is gaining scrutiny from the group's GOP rival.

Cuellar, who represents a district along the southern border, was not part of the program meant to assist Democrats at risk of losing their election in 2024, but he still won re-election in November.

"The DCCC throwing cash at Henry Cuellar, an indicted congressman facing bribery and foreign agent charges, is certainly a choice. Do other frontline Democrats stand by pumping campaign cash into defending a corrupt and sleazy politician?" NRCC spokesman Mike Marinella said in a statement Thursday.

The Department of Justice under the Biden administration indicted Cuellar and his wife for allegedly taking roughly $600,000 in bribes from an Azerbaijan-owned energy company and a Mexican bank, according to a news release at the time.

BREAKING: Elon Musk calls for investigation into AOC!

AOC was found employing an undocumented worker as her Deputy Communications Director, who has now self-deported to Colombia.

This situation demands an investigation. Reports indicate she was paying him $80,000 a year—how were taxes handled? Did he use a fraudulent Social Security number?

Musk Ha also questioned how she went from being broke to banking over $29-million since taking office. Sounds like Clinton, Obama & the Big Guy.

Tribal Elections 101:

Things to consider when choosing your candidate.

1. If they didn't do anything the last time they were in office why do you think they will this time?
2. If they've never held a job for more than 2 weeks or at all why do you think they are capable to run the tribe?
3. If you wouldn't trust them with your checkbook why trust them with the tribe's?
4. If you wouldn't trust them around your children why would you trust them with your children's future?
5. If they have a history of not supporting local businesses and contractors, how will our economy ever grow or change?
6. If they can't read, write or communicate how are they going to better educate our children and our tribe?
7. If you wouldn't hire them to run your business why would you vote for them to run the tribe?

Raise your standards! Raise your requirements! Don't vote for someone just because they are your friend or family. Vote for the most qualified. Look at their skills, knowledge and ability. Look at their character. Look at their education and/or experience. Do it for our children. Do it for our future. Do it for our tribe!

CHANGE STARTS WITH YOU

MY VIEW Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.,

Yes, “Tribal Elections 101” it make great idealistic reading but, the reality is that the majority of the American Indian Tribes follow the Socialist/Democrats ideology. That said, should make the sad state of the poverty-stricken living conditions of the non-gaming tribes in America and the substandard education, health care & economic level of the majority of the tribal population better understood.

Tribal Sovereignty is a myth & will never be achieved until we, Tribal people as a Tribal entity become Self-Sufficient. Simply stated, Government Dependence by the Tribes is Government Control over the Tribes. That is not Tribal Sovereignty nor is it FREEDOM!!!!

Three FEMA supervisors fired after probe of directive to skip homes with Trump signs

Kevin Haggerty Staff Writer

Read More @ BPR

Further firings at FEMA followed one infamous supervisor’s involvement in hurricane relief workers avoiding homes that supported President Donald Trump.

Leading into the 2024 presidential election, back-to-back Hurricanes Helene and Milton slammed the southeast, bringing devastation from eastern Tennessee and western North Carolina to Florida. Making matters worse amid the poor response from the Biden administration, partisanship had leaked into the relief effort and an “exhaustive investigation” had found cause to terminate three more supervisors.

Writing to Tennessee Sen. Marsha Blackburn (R) Tuesday, acting Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Administrator Cameron Hamilton had determined the supervisors had failed to “meet our standards of conduct,” in a letter reported by the New York Post.

“[I]t is essential that the entire workforce understand that this incident was reprehensible, and this type of behavior will not be tolerated at FEMA,” asserted Hamilton. “Further, in accordance with my commitment, and that of President Trump and [Homeland Security] Secretary [Kristi] Noem, to ensure that Americans receive impartial assistance from FEMA, I have directed a comprehensive additional training for FEMA staff to reinforce that political affiliation should never be a consideration in the rendering of assistance.”

In November, fired FEMA supervisor Marni Washington had attempted to fault the agency for allegedly handing down directives to avoid homes where signs were posted in support of Trump’s 2024 campaign, and told Fox News’ Trace Gallagher, “If you have loose dogs, and someone on the team was comfortable with dogs and another person is not, we can’t go to that home because of safety precautions.”

Hello, what part of “Illegally” don’t you understand?

Rep. Jasmine Crockett, D-Texas, said on Saturday (March 8, 2025) that illegally entering the country was “not a crime” despite being in violation of federal law.

On MSNBC’s “The Katie Phang Show,” the Texas Democrat discussed her recent performance at a House committee hearing on sanctuary city policies last week. She used the time to explain to the audience that illegally entering the country was not a “crime” but a “civil accusation,” meaning illegal immigrants are not criminals.

Improper entry into the United States is considered a federal misdemeanor crime in violation of 8 USC 1325, punishable by fines and up to six months in jail for first-time offenders.

FBI Director Kash Patel dropped a BOMBSHELL!!

He’s issuing a subpoena for Judge Juan Merchan’s daughter’s company to investigate any financial gains tied to her father’s prosecution of President Trump.

The corruption runs deep, and it’s time for answers!

KASH: "It's shocking and unconstitutional. It's great to be with you, and I'm here to announce on your show a measure that

I'm working with Congress that should be Congress's bread and butter.

I'm calling for the subpoenas to be issued to Judge Merchan's daughter's company, which made over $15 million from the illicit information coming out of her father's courtroom. I want to know the bank records, because money doesn't lie. I want to know how deep it is, how much of it went to the family, and how much of it is going to the family after this false conviction.

And then, we need to investigate the FEC actual violations that this judge and his family conducted because he should never have been overseeing this trial to begin with. There's also the illicit campaign money flowing through, and the unconstitutional due process violations are only the beginning.

So, America is calling for accountability of our judicial system, and Congress is the only lever that has it. I'm hoping for one or two brave members of Congress that I'm talking to, to issue those subpoenas ASAP."

Senator Jim Banks says that by accepting pardons, Adam Kinzinger, Liz Cheney, and January 6th committee members have effectively confessed to engaging in criminal conduct.

Shayne's Journal

shayne@sprintmail.com

Deep knowledge of a tribe’s history, ethnically, politically, economically and legally is paramount.

In the midst of chaos and emergency, the way to stay calm and figure it out, is to ask the Journalist’s five w’s: who, what , when, why, and how?

Younger people may ask how did this happen. How did we get here? Actually it is nothing new. One can trace the vagaries of American government and tribal relations throughout history. The “Project 2025” is an update of the 1994 “Contract with America” which is an update of the “Termination Act”, whose roots can be traced to players thwarting the Indian Claims Commission and the Indian Reorganization Act. So many MAGA families are descendants of those that hated Roosevelt’s social security, WPA and the CCC, subsequently becoming the vociferous opponents of Johnson’s Medicare, Head Start and federal aid to education.

One can easily pick up the associated documents by googling Project 2025+American Indian, Contract with America+American Indian, or Eisenhower’s Indian Termination Act.

While modern technology makes this an easy exercise, one has to have the history to understand it. That is the benefit of elders who have lived it; it is the challenge of younger generations to learn it, and each Tribe’s journey has different nuances that are critical to know as they plan the journey to the future.

Deep knowledge of a tribe’s history, ethnically, politically, economically and legally is paramount. (That is why I argue for tribal libraries/archives/museums).

Never before, in recorded human history, has the planet had so many persons on it. And, depending on one’s belief system, Mother Nature/The Creator/pure science are reacting.

“Man” should never forget that he/she/they are animals, very much a part of a larger eco-system. So much tribal literature is based on former generation’s observations and lessons learned from their animal brothers and sisters.

Over and above the lessons of interpersonal relations and the vagaries of human/animal spirit, there are lessons of how/where/what to eat, the need to migrate with seasons or environmental conditions, and intrinsic knowledge of their territory and how to avoid predators.

Man has taken it one step further in the creation of concepts, such as government, corporations, law, human rights, and religion. These are all manmade creations. Mark Twain once said, “Whiskey is for drinking; water is for fighting.” So it has been with each of these. Each has become a very complicated twist of rules, information and history. But just as it was essential to feel/smell a wind and what it would bring, it is just as essential for seven generation knowledge of the rules, information, and history be passed generation to generation.

So what are the rules that shape each community?

What are the water rights held by the tribe and/or individuals?

What are the rights-of-way held by the tribe and/or individuals?

What leases are held by the tribe/individuals and not any government entity?

What patented information does the tribe hold?

The five w’s: who, what , when, why, and how? - all these questions for the non-physical “things” listed above are needed knowledge in order to provide and protect the community.

When, why and how was the tribal corporation created? Who was involved?

What, when, why and how were water rights, leases, and rights-of-ways gained. Who holds them?

What specialized knowledge (name, language, art and other cultural practices are held by the community? Again, the five w’s.

If the answers to the questions are not readily available, obtaining the primary documents and/or legislative history attached is a great term paper or thesis project for high school, college students or seniors with time on their hands. Tribes whose records are not complete can turn to federal libraries or archives located near them. The internet, obviously, has contributed to the easy access to finding guides and bibliographies.

Knowing a community has this information and documentation within their control will do much “staying calm and carrying on”.

Economics in a time of Upheaval

It is not summertime yet, but let’s make lemonade out of lemon

As stated earlier this year, the public is getting an intense lesson in American government. Now comes the lessons in economics.

Communities are shocked with the layoffs and potential sale of federal buildings in their area. Already seen when Covid caused personnel to stay home and work, many of the small business that depended on the personel eating at small restaurants around the building, small shops for casual purchase going to and from work, dry cleaners because people dressed for work, transportation resources that had no one to transport—many went under.

Now communities are faced with more jobless, potentially homeless people. Their contributions to local economies included groceries, petrol, entertainment, etc. Many of those “outposts” brought in tourism or other bureaucrats on a regular basis, causing an inflow of capital, now obliterated from the local economy.

Earlier this year I wrote about how all nations are capitalistic. All seek profit. Some count it in dollars, minerals or crypto. Some remember and couch it in human capital.

One St. Patrick’s day not too long ago, Secretary of the Interior James Watt called tribes communists, basically echoing some of the rhetoric of the 50’s and that right after the turn of the twentieth century and the Russian Revolution. Part of the rhetoric of chaos, it fostered untruths. Capitalism, socialism and communism are economic systems in which profit is distributed differently. Politics usually dictates which system is employed. Historically tribes knew that in order to survive, they had to hang together, not letting someone take off with everything or let someone die because they had nothing.

Tribes are in a better position to weather these times than some other entities. If their citizenship is not revoked, they have clear title to their land, land in many instances that can be used to grow crops, house clean water systems and renew lifestyles that sustained them in other epochs of disaster, from climate change, to invasion, to chemical war and standard warfare.

Traditional knowledge and skills will help sustain groups through travail. The irony is that more and more of the society have begun to believe in and lift indigenous knowledge and practices, hence the fire management contracts.

Already some press is advocating for tribes to take over the National Parks that have lost their staff. ( <https://time.com/7262838/us-public-lands-return-indigenous-people/>)

In these turbulent times there are other opportunities that will present themselves. Those tribal communities that have a vision of where they want to go and the courage of leadership will be able to not only survive, but create a legacy that honors their ancestors and ensures the gift of seven generations.

In a traditional Anishinaabe economy, the land is the source of all goods and services, which are distributed in a kind of gift exchange: One life is given in support of another,' Potawatomi botanist and author Robin Wall Kimmerer writes in her newest book, The Serviceberry: Abundance and Reciprocity in the Natural World. “The focus is on supporting the good of the people, not only an individual. Receiving a gift from the land is coupled to attached responsibilities of sharing, respect, reciprocity, and gratitude.”

COVID + Internet + now economic chaos have fomented a world formerly only depicted in SciFie movies. The best article I have read to date on this subject is The $100 Trillion Disruption: The Unforeseen Economic Earthquake (<https://wildfirelabs.substack.com/p/th>)

The babe bows out

He was the greatest ballplayer of them all, the towering Sultan of Swat. But by 1948, Babe Ruth had been out of the game for more than a decade and was struggling with terminal cancer. So when the beloved Bambino stood before a massive crowd on June 13 to help celebrate the silver anniversary of Yankee Stadium—known to all in attendance as the House That Ruth Built—and to retire his No. 3, it was clear this was a final public goodbye.

Nat Fein of the New York Herald Tribune was one of dozens of photographers staked out along the first-base line. But as the sound of “Auld Lang Syne” filled the stadium, Fein “got a feeling” and walked behind Ruth, where he saw the proud ballplayer leaning on a bat, his thin legs hinting at the toll the disease had wreaked on his body. From that spot, Fein captured the almost mythic role that athletes play in our lives—even at their weakest, they loom large. Two months later Ruth was dead, and Fein went on to win a Pulitzer Prize for his picture. It was the first one awarded to a sports photographer, giving critical legitimacy to a form other than hard-news reportage.

Laughter in the Best Medicine

Will Rogers, (November 4, 1879 – August 15, 1935)

“I want no pay, no awards, no recognition or fancy title. I just want America to reach greater heights.”
— Elon Musk

A 74-year old senior citizen drove his brand- new Corvette convertible out of the dealership in El Cajon CA. Taking off down the freeway, he floored it to 80 mph, enjoying the wind blowing through what little gray hair he had left. Amazing, he thought as he flew down I-8 toward Alpine and the Viejas Indian Reservation Casino, pushing the pedal even more.

Looking in his rearview mirror, he saw a state CHP trooper behind him, lights flashing and siren blaring. He floored it to 100 mph, then 110, then 120. Suddenly he thought, What am I doing? I'm too old for this,, and pulled over to await the trooper's arrival.

Pulling in behind him, the CHP trooper walked up to the Corvette, looked at his watch, and said, "Sir, my shift ends in 30 minutes. Today is Friday. If you can give me a reason for speeding that I've never heard before, I'll let you go."

The old gentleman paused. Then he said, "Years ago, my wife ran off with a state trooper. I thought you were bringing her back."

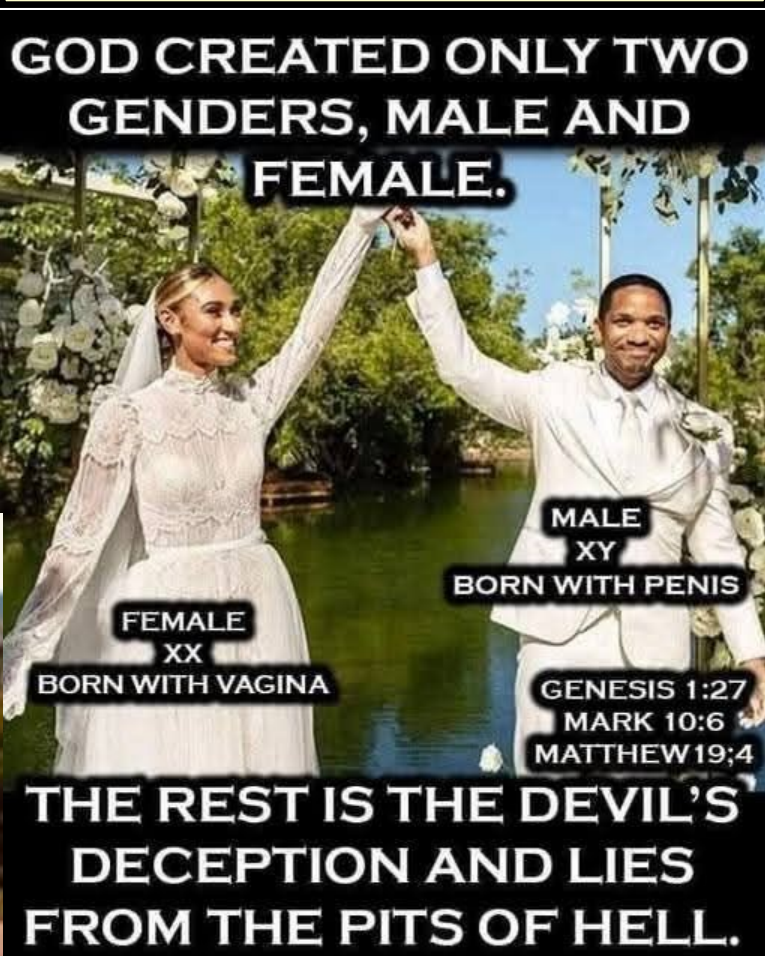

The CHP trooper said; "Have great day sir!"

DEMOCRATS ARE SUCH BAD SPORTS

WE TRIED THEIR TEAM FOR 4 YEARS AND IT WAS A DISASTER THEY SLAMMED THE BORDERS OPEN, THE ILLEGALS TOOK ALL THE AFFORDABLE HOUSING AND TURNED OUR CITIES INTO HOMELESS CAMPS, CANCEL CULTURE WAS RAMPANT, EVERYONE WAS TERRIFIED TO SAY ANYTHING, THEN WE HAD THE SHOPLIFTING GANGS, ALL THE WARS AND 30% INFLATION

SO I WOULD LIKE TO MAKE A SUGGESTION, SHUT THE [REDACTED] UP AND SIT THE [REDACTED] DOWN.
