Another Man of God Has Been Crucified

Charlie James Kirk

(October 14, 1993 – September 10, 2025)

Turning Point USA

MY VIEW by Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.

If you don't consider Charlie Kirk's murder a current day Crucifixion and a catalyst to the "Word of God" in the world, you like many folks may not be aware of the spiritual impact he made on millions of youth in America and the world. You might want to take the time to become apprised of the silent out pour of love, prayers and peace from his followers, true followers of Jesus Christ our Lord and Savior.

Within 2-days of his murder, his wife Erika went on FOXS News and delivered an emotional and defiant speech, drawing millions of viewers worldwide, she vowed that Turning Point USA would continue its campus tour this fall. Kirk co-founded the conservative advocacy group in 2012. And as of Sunday, September 14, 2025, a mere 48-hours after her resounding speech over 38,000 request have poured in for information on how to form a chapter. The irony is 900 college and 1,300 high school Chapters currently exist.

Yet, while America and the world turns to Jesus the Marxist-Democrats in the U.S. congress refused to hold a moment of silence in honor of Charles James Kirk, a man of God.

Charlie Kirk wasn't a political actives, a conseritive, yes, he was a bold defender of truth, a lover of freedom, and a passionate believer in Jesus Christ. He exploited the political platforms on abortion, homosexuality and gender identity to magnify their counterdictions to the teachings of Jesus and the Bible.

For his unwavering belief in Christianity his words were labled as "Hate Speech" by the non-believers, Demo/Socialist/Marxist and Woke that believe the elitist Government is the supreme authority.

And at age 31, Charlie Kirk is dead, murdered because he had the courage to share his love for Jesus Christ and the teachings of the Holy Bible, "Hate Speech" as proclaimed by the misguided and the American Communist political leaders.

Charlie Kirk was shot and killed by a spoiled 22-year old misguided soul, who was still living with his parents who and claimed he was filled with "Anger & Hate." The young Assassin may have acted alone as it appears on the face of main stream news yet, his actions represents the anti-America evil that threatens every fiber of Christianity in America.

Although, many claim to be Christians, they fail to understand that Christianity is not allowed within Marxist ruled Country's. One only needs to view the vile post on social media or tune in on any of the main stream media TV channels. Nor should we forget the FBI and DOJ raids on Catholic Church's and the arrest of Christians praying a abortion centers.

To say Charlie Kirk accomplished so much in his short 31-years life would be an understatement for the ages.

In addition to becoming a worldwide icon, advisor to President Trump, he reached millions of youth with the "Words of Jesus" he co-authored a book and authored 4-books.

KIRK'S BOOKS (Source From Wikipedia)

Kirk co-wrote, with Brent Hamachek, the 2016 book; "Time for a Turning Point: Setting a Course Toward Free Markets and Limited Government for Future Generations" (Simon & Schuster).

He authored the 4-Book listed below:

"Campus Battlefield: How Conservatives Can WIN the Battle on Campus and Why It Matters." Kirk wrote the 2018 book; Donald Trump Jr. wrote its foreword.

"The MAGA Doctrine: The Only Ideas That Will Win the Future" (2020),

"The College Scam: How America's Universities Are Bankrupting and Brainwashing Away the Future of America's Youth" (2022), |

"Right Wing Revolution: How to Beat the Woke and Save the West" (2024).

Charles James Kirk was human and as such he made mistakes like the rest of us mortal souls. But unlike most of us, he connected millions of youth with Jesus and millions more are seeking Gods blessing.

May your road trip with Jesus be blessed and thank you for enlightening the youth of America and world with the "Word of Jesus Christ Our Lord & Savior."

Charlie Kirk never used hate speech.

He used speech they hated.

FREEDOM IN AMERICA IS AT RISK

"Freedom is one of the deepest and noblest aspirations of the human spirit."

"Freedom is the right to question and change the established way of doing things. It is the continuous revolution of the marketplace. It is the understanding that allows us to recognize shortcomings and seek solutions."

"Freedom is not something to be secured in any one moment of time. We must struggle to preserve it every day.

And freedom is never more than one generation away from extinction."

President, Ronald Reagan

Attorney General Bill Barr Anti-Trump Deep State

Story by Ken Blackwell

Project Veritas has blown the lid off of what looks like one of the most disturbing scandals in American history. Their whistleblower, Patricia Lélis, says former Attorney General Bill Barr and media insider Armstrong Williams were running a dirty operation that touched everything from visa fraud to foreign bribes to backroom DOJ meetings. At the center of it all, according to Project Veritas, is Barr's long shadowy relationship with the intelligence community — the very heart of the Deep State.

To understand the allegations, you have to look at Barr's history. His own father, Donald Barr, had deep ties to intelligence circles and even gave Jeffrey Epstein one of his first jobs at the Dalton School in New York despite Epstein lacking a college degree. Years later, Bill Barr himself became Attorney General.

And it was during Barr's tenure at DOJ that Jeffrey Epstein mysteriously died in a federal jail under "suicide watch" — with the cameras turned off and the guards asleep.

Many Americans have never believed the official story, and it is no accident that Barr's name is forever tied to it.

Now, Project Veritas is reporting that Barr's CIA ties stretch into an illegal visa fraud operation. Lélis claims that fake companies were created to funnel wealthy foreigners into the U.S. under the E-2 visa program. Barr allegedly knew the companies were not real but supported the scheme anyway. According to her, Armstrong Williams instructed her to handle $700,000 in fraudulent funds and threatened her green card when she asked questions.

But the bigger picture is what came next. Lélis says Barr and Williams sat in secret meetings after 2020 where they openly discussed how to stop Trump from ever coming back to power. Barr, the same man who once ran the Justice Department, allegedly suggested using RICO charges because they are nearly impossible to fight. The meetings included names like Steve Bannon, Rudy Giuliani, the Proud Boys, and Oath Keepers. According to Project Veritas, this was not speculation — there are notes, texts, and documents showing Barr's involvement in plotting raids, subpoenas, and coordination with prosecutors like Jack Smith and Fani Willis.

At the same time, Williams is accused of serving as the money man. Project Veritas reports claims that Turkish and Qatari officials funneled cash, perks, and even gold bars into America through Williams' projects. The whistleblower says Mayor Eric Adams benefited from these payoffs and that a suitcase of gold ended up in the circle of Senator Bob Menendez, who was later convicted for corruption. Burner phones were allegedly used to keep all of these communications off the record, with Barr himself in the loop.

The retaliation against Lélis has been brutal. After she went to the FBI, she says prosecutors threatened her, slapped her with 19 charges, and even hinted at framing her as tied to cartels.

She survived a shooting at her apartment and later received a message that read, "A Shame the Shot Missed." Instead of Barr or Williams facing justice, the whistleblower has been targeted, which is exactly how the Deep State protects its own.

So let's connect the dots.

Bill Barr's father had intelligence ties and personally opened the door for Epstein.

Bill Barr was Attorney General when Epstein conveniently died behind bars. Now a whistleblower claims Barr's CIA connections are tied to visa fraud, bribes, and plots to stop Trump.

Whether it is protecting Epstein, silencing whistleblowers, or using RICO charges to crush political opponents, Barr's name keeps showing up where corruption and cover-ups thrive.

According to Project Veritas and their whistleblower, here is the case against Barr and Williams:

- Fake companies used to run an E-2 visa fraud scheme

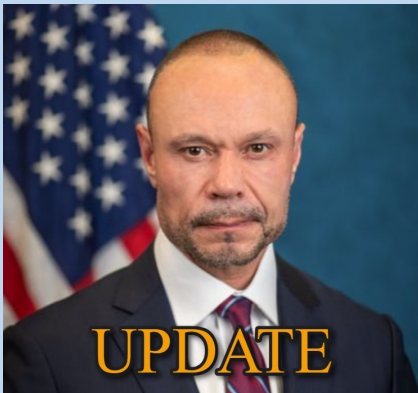

- Secret meetings to plot RICO charges and FBI raids against Trump allies
- Coordination with Jack Smith, Fani Willis, and others to weaponize the law
- Foreign bribes and payoffs, including a suitcase of gold bars
- Burner phones to conceal high-level communications
- Retaliation and threats against the whistleblower, including a shooting
- Barr's undisclosed CIA ties connected to the scheme
- Barr's family history tied to intelligence networks and Epstein, and his role as AG when Epstein died under suspicious circumstances

If these allegations are true, they paint a picture of Bill Barr not as a public servant, but as a Deep State operator whose loyalties lie with the intelligence agencies, the corrupt elite, and anyone who will pay to keep Trump out of power.

America deserves answers.

Update from FBI Deputy Director Dan Bongino: "Big news coming out today in the FBI's efforts to rid the U.S. of Foreign Terrorist Organizations..."

Two new groups now fall under the FTO designation—Los Choneros and Los Lobos. Both are criminal organizations based in Ecuador that are responsible for significant drug and firearms trafficking and acts of extreme violence.

The FBI, along with our partners within the newly established Homeland Security Task Force, played a crucial role in helping get this designation by providing critical intelligence to support. You may remember, the leader of the Los Choneros, José Adolfo "Fito" Macías Villamar, was extradited to Brooklyn in July to face international drug and gun charges. These groups being added to this designation reinforces our commitment to disrupting terrorist networks and protecting our nation.

This will allow the FBI and our partners to continue to strike at violent groups that exploit the drug trade to fund operations and push dangerous drugs into the American communities. We WILL cut off their resources and reduce their ability to harm people both here at home and abroad. God bless America, and all those who defend Her.

California state Sen. Scott Wiener labels Charlie Kirk 'a vile bigot who' normalized 'dehumanization'

FOX News

MY VIEW: Ernie C. Salgado, Jr.

Yea, right coming from Mr. LGBTQ+, this guy is the sponsor of SB 145, the California "Pedophilia Act," which allows consensual sex between a minor, provided the age difference doesn't exceed 10-years. So, an 18-year old, man or woman can have sex with an 8-9-year old child provided it's consensual. It's the law in California. Along with his LGBTQ+ and Socialist Demo cohorts in the California Legislature named it the Anti-LGBTQ+ Discrimination Act. He is also a strong supporter of the Assembly Bill 495, titled the Family Preparedness Plan Act of 2025. In reality it's should be entitled The "Pedophilia & Child Trafficking Dream Act."

Here is the basic language; "nonrelative extended family members," defined as "any adult caregiver who has an established familial or mentoring relationship with the child, or who has an established familial relationship with a relative of the child." In turn, any "caregiver" would be allowed to take custody of a child by merely handing over a signed "affidavit" to school or childcare staff.

And, he has the gull to call out Charlie Kirk for quoting the Holy Bible on what Jesus said about gays and fools.

Gavin Newsom · Sep 10, 2025

On September 20, 1972, American Indian activist Richard Oakes was shot and killed. Richard Oakes was a Mohawk Indian from the St. Regis Mohawk Reservation, also known as Akwesasne, in New York State. Richard was born on May 22, 1942 and spent his early childhood fishing and farming around his reservation. As a teenager he worked on the docks in the area and eventually was employed as a high steel-worker, a job that many Indians performed in building the skyscrapers of major eastern cities. While working on a job in Rhode Island, he met and married his first wife and had a child with her.

In 1968, after his divorce, Richard moved to San Francisco and enrolled in San Francisco State University. While he was a student there, he worked with a professor, Dr. Bea Medicine, to design one of the first Native American Studies departments in the nation. At this time, the Mohawk National Council was developing to fight the oppression of Mohawk religion by means of peaceful protest. They called their members the White Roots of Peace. In the spring of 1969, Richard met with the White Roots of Peace and they encouraged him to stand up for what he believed in.

Later that year, with 89 San Francisco students and other Natives behind him, Richard, along with fellow activist LaNada Means, led a nonviolent occupation of Alcatraz Island that lasted 19 months. The group chose the name Indians of All Tribes (IOAT), and they argued that under the Treaty of Fort Laramie (signed between the U.S. and the Lakota), all abandoned or otherwise out of use federal land needed to be returned to its original occupants. Alcatraz Prison had closed down a few years earlier, so it was seen as a prime takeover location for the IOAT. Richard Oakes stated:

"We invite the United States to acknowledge the justice of our claim. The choice now lies with the lead- ers of the American government - to use violence upon us as before to remove us from our Great Spirit's land, or to institute a real change in its dealing with the American Indian. We do not fear your threat to charge us with crimes on our land. We and all other oppressed peoples would welcome spectacle of proof before the world of your title by genocide. Nevertheless, we s e e k p e a c e . "

At the height of the occupation of Alcatraz there were 400 people on the island. This number dwindled, however, as families peeled away for different reasons, including conflict within the group itself. Richard himself left after his step-daughter was killed after falling off a cliff. Eventually the government cut off all power and water to the island. After fire destroyed numerous buildings on the island, a large number of government officials forcibly removed the remaining 15 people.

Despite its seeming failure, the occupation had some positive outcomes. For one, it brought international attention to Native American activism. It also had a direct impact on future legislation, and it also set an important precedent for Indian activism and protest, opening fresh avenues for dialogue and unity between Indian tribes.

As for Richard, after leaving Alcatraz he continued his mission of resistance. He assisted the Pit River Tribe of California in reclaiming nearly 3 million acres of land that had been seized by the Pacific Gas and Electric. He also had plans to create a "mobile university" that would cater to Native students, but this unfortunately never happened, due to the tragic ending of his life.

On September 20, 1972 Richard confronted YMCA camp manager Michael Morgan, who had accused a local Native boy of stealing horses from the camp.

Morgan was a known white supremacist and according to testimony had labeled Oakes a "troublemaker" who "was half crazy and that he'd be better off dead." When Oakes went to talk to Morgan about harassing the Native child over the missing horses, Morgan drew his handgun and shot Richard, who was unarmed. Morgan claimed he feared for his life and that Oakes had threatened to kill him. Morgan was charged with voluntary manslaughter, but was acquitted by an all-white jury who agreed with his story that he had acted in self-defense. To this day, this decision is controversial; there is evidence that the jury was motivated by racial bias.

Richard Oakes' life ended too soon at the age of 30; however, his activism and passion for change created a ripple effect that was felt throughout Indian country and around the world.

The 20 Oldest American Indian Reservations In The U.S. You Should Know About

- 1. Brotherton Reservation, New Jersey — 1758

The Treaty of Easton in 1758 established what many historians consider the first official Indian reservation in what would become the United States. Created as a community called Brotherton (also known as Edgepillock or Indian Mills) in Burlington County, New Jersey, this reservation was intended as a place where Lenape (Delaware) converts could live under Quaker missionary supervision. The community flourished briefly but declined by the early 1800s as residents moved west or integrated into surrounding communities, leaving behind an important but often overlooked chapter in early American-Indian relations.
- 5. Allegany Reservation, New York — 1797

The Treaty of Big Tree in 1797 carved out several small Seneca reservations, including Allegany, from the tribe's much larger original territory in western New York. This treaty represented a devastating land loss for the Seneca Nation, reducing their holdings from millions of acres to just a few small parcels.
- 10. Cherokee Nation, Oklahoma — 1838 (Post-Removal)

Following the controversial Treaty of New Echota in 1835 and the devastating Trail of Tears in 1838, the Cherokee people re-established their nation in Indian Territory (present-day Oklahoma). The forced removal from their ancestral homelands in the Southeast resulted in thousands of deaths, but the Cherokee demonstrated remarkable resilience in rebuilding their government, schools, and communities.
- 15. Standing Rock Reservation, North Dakota/South Dakota — 1868

Standing Rock Reservation traces its origins to the landmark Fort Laramie Treaty of 1868, which established the Great Sioux Reservation covering much of present-day South Dakota and parts of surrounding states. Later federal actions carved Standing Rock out of this larger territory, creating a reservation that spans the North Dakota-South Dakota border along the Missouri River.
- 20. Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado — 1873

The Southern Ute Reservation emerged from the complex web of treaties signed in 1868, which initially created a massive reservation covering much of western Colorado. The Brunot Agreement of 1873 dramatically reduced these original boundaries, forcing the Ute people onto a much smaller territory in southwestern Colorado.

SUPREME COURT WON'T HEAR APACHE BID TO BLOCK COPPER MINE ON SACRED LAND

MY VIEW: Supreme Court Socialist Turn Back On American Indian Religious Rights
Chez Oxendine (Lumbee-Cheraw) * Read More @ Tribal Business News

The Supreme Court declined to hear a case brought by a Native American advocacy group aiming to block a copper mine's development on culturally significant land.

The court announced yesterday that it would not hear an appeal by Apache Stronghold, a coalition of the San Carlos Apache Tribe and conservation advocates. According to the docket announcement, Justice Samuel Alito did not weigh in on the decision to deny the appeal, while Justices Neil Gorsuch and Clarence Thomas dissented from the decision.

The appeal challenged a March 2024 ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit that would approve the sale of a federal parcel in Arizona to developers Rio Tinto and BHP, who plan to build a 2-mile wide, 1,000-foot deep mine on the site. The land sale was first signed into law as the Southeastern Arizona Land Exchange and Conservation Act under President Barack Obama in 2014. The transfer, once complete, will grant access to roughly 40 billion pounds of copper beneath the earth - enough to supply a quarter of the U.S. demand, according to a 2024 Reuters report.

The area, called Oak Flat, is considered by the San Carlos Apache Tribe to be crucial for the tribe's religious rituals. However, the 9th Circuit ruling - which, in the absence of a Supreme Court hearing, will now stand - found 6-5 that the sale of the site would not be a "substantial burden" on the tribe's religious practices, since they would not be "forced to stop worshipping," according to the Reuters report.

"For centuries, Western Apaches have worshiped at Chi'chil Bildagoteel, or Oak Flat. They consider the site a 'sacred and direct corridor to the Creator,'" Gorsuch wrote in a 17-page dissenting opinion. "Now the government and a mining conglomerate want to turn Oak Flat into a massive hole in the ground ... faced with the government's plan to destroy an ancient site of tribal worship, we owe the Apache's no less."

Apache Stronghold vowed to launch more efforts to block the mine's development in a press release issued by the nonprofit legal counsel The Becket Fund for Religious Liberty. Apache Stronghold representative Dr. Wendsler Nosie Sr., a former chairman for the San Carlos Apache Tribe, said the group "will never stop fighting."

Religious freedom vs. federal land rights

Apache Stronghold launched its lawsuit in 2021, alleging that its First Amendment rights to religious freedom would be violated by the destruction of Oak Flat. The group pointed to the Religious Freedom Restoration Act of 1993, which is meant to ensure that religious practices — Native American practices among them — are not infringed upon by acts of government.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Native Americans had a system of planting crops where they would plant corn, beans, and squash in close proximity to one another. This allowed for the corn to give structure for the beans to climb, the beans provided nitrogen for the soil, and the squash helped prevent weeds from growing. This group of crops is known as the "Three Sisters."❤

Redding Rancheria and Redding Rancheria Tribal Health System

I have to say something about this Charlie Kirk guy. I wanted to not speak of the dead but that's not what I'm really doing here today. I never heard of the man until the day he was killed. Since then I have watched a couple debates but what I'm saying has nothing to do with that either.

He was murdered on camera. He had a wife n two children. He was someone's son. He got shot because he ran his mouth about what he believed. I know a lot of people who do that. None of them have been killed over it. Whatever his views were is no reason to kill a human. It's his right to speak his truth. And that's not even what is bothering me.

What's bothering me is my friends on Facebook are posting cruel things about this man n laughing at his death. Like the opening scene of Wicked. Think what you want of me I don't care. But this man is dead. I don't understand why everyone is so happy that this person was killed

I am a human from the planet earth and I always believed that my people respected the dead. My heart hurts for this man's family and I think it's in very poor taste that we are all still speaking on him in such a negative way. That's all I have to say. ## The Lady Who Reported Hyundai to ICE Speaks Out Woman: "So there were 452 illegals apprehended at the Hyundai mega plant construction site yesterday near Savannah. And I was the one that reported the information that I had to ICE.

But it goes beyond just someone working illegally. Let me explain to you. These people are working for slave wages. Some are not getting paid. Some are being trafficked. They send money home to their country. They give money to their handler. They have hardly anything left. They live in homes, five families deep, have no quality of life. It's modern-day slavery.

So if you think that ICE is just going in and ripping people out of their jobs, these hard-working people that want a better life, well, guess what?

Politicians have really screwed these people because when they came here, they thought they were, you know, hey, the border's open, we're coming in, we're gonna get the five-star treatment, and we can go to the big Walmart, and we can live in a five-star hotel, and that's just not how it is.

It's very bad conditions, very inhumane, and the Biden administration started a humanitarian crisis. So y'all can't just look at it like they're ripping good people off the job. They're probably saving their lives in the long run."

Democrats have made California politics toxic

Opinion by Zachary Faria * Read More @ Washington Examiner

California Republicans are now pushing a proposal to split the state into two. While that will obviously never happen, it does highlight just how untenable the political situation in California has become under Democratic single-party rule.

The proposal from Assembly Minority Leader James Gallagher would cut the state into two, with the “Democratic” state making up most of California’s coast and the “Republican” state taking most of the non-coastal counties. It won’t go anywhere, and Gallagher likely knows that given his tongue-in-cheek description of it as a “two-state solution.”

California is governed by coastal elites for coastal elites, and the inland counties are left to bear the brunt of the state’s destructive policies and indifferent attitude toward their livelihoods.

As an example, California Gov. Gavin Newsom (D) recently bragged about how the state is “#1” in, among other things, farming. It’s not unfounded: The Central Valley of California produces $17 billion worth of crops per year, producing a quarter of the nation’s food with less than 1% of its farmland. And yet Newsom and California Democrats have been strangling that farmland with air quality and water regulations. The state has flushed water that farmers need out to sea to please environmental activists, instituted stricter groundwater regulations on farmers trying to compensate for that flushed water, and forced big and small farms alike to spend wildly on new vehicles to meet the state’s ridiculous emissions standards.

Candace Owens believes we’re being lied to about Charlie Kirk’s death. She thinks there are some powerful people behind the ass*ssination of Charlie and says “the truth will be revealed.” Many people believe there’s more to the story... What are your thoughts?

This is absolutely insane!

2 CHILDREN DEAD, 17 PEOPLE INJURED
IN MINNEAPOLIS CATHOLIC SCHOOL SHOOTING

In my eight & one half decades on this earth, I have seen more than my share of sinful, immoral and horrible things, but this is pure evil.

A deranged shooter just murdered of two innocent children, seriously wounding fourteen others and three adults and NBC is more worried about getting pronouns right than addressing the real issue at hand - violence in our schools, our Country.

NBC apologizing for not using “she” to describe the so called “transvestite” Minnesota Catholic school shooter? Political correctness gone off the rails? I don’t think so, Not really, the liberal Marxist propaganda mainstream media what’s to insure that the gender myth remains front and center.

It’s an insult to the victims, their families and every law-abiding American citizen.

We’ve some got real problems in this country, and the Marxist media is too busy promoting identity politics to care about deal with them.

Pope Leo XIV is absolutely correct when he said, “The liberals are inventing genders that don’t exist.”

Kavanaugh warns judges are ‘not appointed to make’ immigration policy decisions

Story by Jack Birle * Read More @ Washington Examiner

Justice Brett Kavanaugh warned judges Monday (Sept. 8, 2025) that the role of the judiciary in immigration legal disputes is not to set policy, sending the Supreme Court's latest warning to lower courts via its emergency docket.

Kavanaugh's comments came in a conurrence of a 6-3 order lifting restrictions that a federal district court in California placed on federal authorities’ ability to conduct immigration operations in the Los Angeles area. The justice told lower-court judges that their role is only to ensure immigration policies and procedures are lawful and constitutional, rather than to weigh in with their own preferred policies.

"Especially in an immigration case like this one, it is also important to stress the proper role of the Judiciary," Kavanaugh wrote. "The Judiciary does not set immigration policy or decide enforcement priorities. It should come as no surprise that some Administrations may be more laissez-faire in enforcing immigration law, and other Administrations more strict."

"Article III judges may have views on which policy approach is better or fairer. But judges are not appointed to make those policy calls. We merely ensure, in justiciable cases, that the Executive Branch acts within the confines of the Constitution and federal statutes."

Kavanaugh pointed to the high court as an example of staying within its "constitutionally assigned role" in a pair of rulings: in 2023's United States v. Texas and 2022's Biden v. Texas, both during the Biden administration, which deferred immigration policy to the executive branch rather than allowing for courts to decide.

Conservatives say that guns are for hunting, fishing, and self defense, because that's what they use them for.

Ancient Spirits Speak
Knapping Class
with Tim Gross, PhD
October 11th, 2025 | 10:30am to 2:30pm

The practice of creating tools from stone is one of the most essential of ancient human skills. Join Tim Gross, PhD, as he teaches the various techniques and history of knapping.

Due to the sharpness of the stone material and the hazardous flaking process, students must be 18 or older to participate and must wear the appropriate protective gear provided.

Class is open to the public and lunch is provided. $50 per person. Ages 18 & up.

In 1992, the Houston Astros sat on top of the baseball world with the first overall pick in the MLB draft. Their decision would ripple through history, but not in the way they hoped. Hal Newhouser, a Hall of Fame pitcher who had turned to scouting, couldn't stop talking about one kid from Kalamazoo, Michigan – Derek Jeter.

He saw something in him others didn't. Smooth hands, a presence beyond his years, a natural leader in the making. Newhouser practically begged the Astros' front office to take the shortstop. But fear got in the way. The Astros worried Jeter would demand a million-dollar bonus to skip college, so they passed. Instead, they signed Phil Nevin for $700,000.

Newhouser was so furious, so heartbroken by the short-sightedness of the decision, that he quit his job in protest. Imagine believing in a young man's destiny so strongly that you'd walk away from the career you built just because no one else could see what you saw. That was Jeter. Even before he played a single game in the majors, he was inspiring conviction.

Meanwhile, the Yankees sat further down the draft board with the sixth pick. Their scout, Dick Groch, had watched Jeter at an all-star camp in Michigan. The organization hesitated, worried Jeter would opt for college ball instead of signing. But Groch silenced the doubts with one of the most legendary lines in scouting history: "The only place Derek Jeter's going is Cooperstown." And just like that, Jeter became a Yankee for $800,000 – a bargain price for a future icon.

But the road wasn't glamorous. It was punishing. Jeter's professional debut in rookie ball with the Gulf Coast Yankees was a nightmare. He went 0-for-7 at the plate with five strikeouts. His batting average over that season sunk to .202, flirting dangerously with the Mendoza Line. It was so bad that his manager benched him on the final day just to keep his num-

But Jeter refused to quit. That offseason, he worked obsessively on his defense. By 1993, he began to turn heads. He hit .295 with five homers, 71 RBIs, and 18 stolen bases. Managers across the South Atlantic League voted him "Most Outstanding Major League Prospect." He piled up triples, hits, and confidence. Yet, even in success, his imperfections showed – 56 errors, a league record. But rather than labeling him a liability, Baseball America called him the "Best Defensive Shortstop," "Most Exciting Player," and owner of the "Best Infield Arm." It was clear now: the errors weren't signs of weakness, but of a player daring to reach further than most could dream.

By 1994, Jeter was climbing fast. He tore through three levels of the minors, hitting .344, stealing 50 bases, and scooping up every "Minor League Player of the Year" award in sight. The whispers became a chorus – the Yankees had a star in the making.

Heading into 1995, Baseball America ranked him as the fourth-best prospect in all of baseball. The Yankees envisioned him as their starting shortstop. But fate, as it often does, tested him again. A shoulder injury slowed him down, and the Yankees signed Tony Fernández to hold the position. For now, Jeter had to wait in Triple-A.

Even when the 1994–95 MLB strike left the game in limbo, Jeter stayed true to his principles. He refused to cross the picket line as a replacement player, choosing patience and loyalty over an easy break. That decision said as much about his character as any stat line could.

Looking back, it's almost surreal. The Astros' fear cost them a dynasty-altering player. The Yankees' gamble gave them a captain. And Derek Jeter, once a homesick teenager striking out in rookie ball, was quietly writing the first chapters of a story that would end, just as Groch predicted, in Cooperstown.

Roy Jones Jr. was only 19 years old when he stepped into the ring at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, South Korea. He fought with courage, speed, and heart, landing nearly three times as many punches as his opponent Park Si-hun of South Korea. The whole world could see who had won, but the judges stunned everyone by giving the gold medal to Park. Roy walked away with silver, but he carried the pain of that unfair loss for the next 35 years.

Decades later, something incredible happened. Park Si-hun traveled thousands of miles from South Korea to Roy's gym in Florida. He handed Roy the gold medal and said through a translator, "This medal belongs to you." As Roy held the medal that had once been denied to him for so long, his eyes filled with tears.

The two men shared a moment that was bigger than boxing and bigger than the gold medal. It was about truth, respect, and humility.

Louis Bookalexis, Penobscot Tribe, was so loved by the Cleveland baseball fans they named the baseball team to honor him, The "Cleveland Indians."

Brothers Felipe, Matty and Jesus Alou played in the outfield at the same time for the San Francisco Giants, September 15, 1963.

September 11. 2001 South Tower, Un-Sung Hero

Rick Rescorla, who saved all but 6 of his 2700 employees during the 9/11 attacks by directing people down the stairs using a bullhorn and encouraging them by singing Cornish songs. Rescorla was the Director of Security for Morgan Stanley in the South Tower of the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001. A retired U.S. Army officer who had fought in Vietnam. Rescorla was known for his meticulous attention to safety. In the years prior to 9/11, he had repeatedly warned that the towers were vulnerable to attack, particularly by aircraft. His insistence on preparedness led him to run frequent evacuation drills, sometimes frustrating employees but ensuring they knew exactly what to do in an emergency. When American Airlines Flight 11 struck the North Tower at 8:46 a.m., Port Authority officials advised workers in the South Tower to remain at their desks. Rescorla ignored those instructions. Grabbing his bullhorn, walkie-talkie, and cell phone, he immediately began leading Morgan Stanley's 2,700 employees out of the building. Calm and authoritative, he directed people into the stairwells, urging them to stay composed. To keep spirits steady, he sang traditional Cornish songs from his childhood, including "Men of Harlech." Survivors later recalled that his singing provided a sense of calm in the chaos. Thanks to his leadership, nearly every Morgan Stanley employee made it out alive. Tragically, Rescorla himself did not survive. After ensuring thousands were safe, he returned to the building to search for stragglers and was last seen heading upward shortly before the tower collapsed at 9:59 a.m. Rescorla's actions are credited with saving over 2,700 lives. Today, he is remembered as one of the great civilian heroes of 9/11, embodying courage, preparation, and selflessness.

Economics 101 Is Socialism Funtional?

It happened in Sweden. A college economics professor stated that he had never failed an exam, but he once failed an entire group. That class insisted that socialism is functional and that no one should be poor and no one rich, everyone is EQUAL! The teacher told them, "OK, we will do an experiment on socialism in this group. All grades will be averaged, and everyone will get the same grade, so no one will fail and no one will get a 10." After the first test, the grades were added up and divided by the number of students, and everyone got an 8. The students who studied intensively were upset, but those who studied less were overjoyed. As the second test approached, the students who had studied a little learned even less, and those who had studied more intensively told themselves that they also wanted a "handout", so they also studied less. The average of the second test was 6! When the third test was given, the average score was 4. To the great surprise of all the students, they all failed. It couldn't be a simpler explanation. The teacher told them that socialism will eventually fail because when half the population sees that they cannot work, because the other half will take care of them, and when the half that worked realizes that there is no point in working anymore, because others are the beneficiaries of their labor, then that is the end of any nation...

Politicians are the only people in the world who create problems and then campaign against them. Have you ever wondered, if both the Democrats and the Republicans are against deficits, WHY do we have deficits? Have you ever wondered, if all the politicians are against inflation and high taxes, WHY do we have inflation and high taxes? You and I don't propose a federal budget. The President does. You and I don't have the Constitutional authority to vote on appropriations. The House of Representatives does. You and I don't write the tax code, Congress does. You and I don't set fiscal policy, Congress does. You and I don't control monetary policy, the Federal Reserve Bank does. One hundred senators, 435 congressmen, one President, and nine Supreme Court justices equates to 545 human beings out of the 300 million are directly, legally, morally, and individually responsible for the domestic problems that plague this country. I excluded the members of the Federal Reserve Board because that problem was created by the Congress. In 1913, Congress delegated its Constitutional duty to provide a sound currency to a federally chartered, but private, central bank. I excluded all the special interests and lobbyists for a sound reason. They have no legal authority. They have no ability to coerce a senator, a congressman, or a President to do one cotton-picking thing. I don't care if they offer a politician $1 million dollars in cash. The politician has the power to accept or reject it. No matter what the lobbyist promises, it is the legislator's responsibility to determine how he votes. Those 545 human beings spend much of their energy convincing you that what they did is not their fault. They cooperate in this common con regardless of party. What separates a politician from a normal human being is an excessive amount of gall. No normal human being would have the gall of a Speaker, who stood up and criticized the President for creating deficits.. ( The President can only propose a budget. He cannot force the Congress to accept it.) The Constitution, which is the supreme law of the land, gives sole responsibility to the House of Representatives for originating and approving appropriations and taxes. Who is the speaker of the House? (John Boehner. He is the leader of the majority party. He and fellow House members, not the President, can approve any budget they want. ) If the President vetoes it, they can pass it over his veto if they agree to. [The House has passed a budget but the Senate has not approved a budget in over three years.

Charley Reese's Final column! READ, WEEP, PRINT AND KEEP!

This should be on the front page of every newspaper. A very interesting column. COMPLETELY NEUTRAL. Be sure to Read the Poem at the end.. Charley Reese's final column for the Orlando Sentinel... He has been a journalist for 49 years. He is retiring and this is HIS LAST COLUMN. Be sure to read the Tax List at the end.

This is about as clear and easy to understand as it can be. The article below is completely neutral, neither anti-republican or democrat. Charlie Reese, a retired reporter for the Orlando Sentinel, has hit the nail directly on the head, defining clearly who it is that in the final analysis must assume responsibility for the judgments made that impact each one of us every day. It's a short but good read. Worth the time. Worth remembering! 545 vs. 300,000,000 People .....

The President's proposed budgets have gotten almost unanimous rejections in the Senate in that time. ]

It seems inconceivable to me that a nation of 300 million cannot replace 545 people who stand convicted -- by present facts -- of incompetence and irresponsibility. I can't think of a single domestic problem that is not traceable directly to those 545 people. When you fully grasp the plain truth that 545 people exercise the power of the federal government, then it must follow that what exists is what they want to exist. If the tax code is unfair, it's because they want it unfair. If the budget is in the red, it's because they want it in the red. If the Army & Marines are in Iraq and Afghanistan it's because they want them in Iraq and Afghanistan .. If they do not receive social security but are on an elite retirement plan not available to the people, it's because they want it that way. There are no insoluble government problems. Do not let these 545 people shift the blame to bureaucrats, whom they hire and whose jobs they can abolish; to lobbyists, whose gifts and advice they can reject; to regulators, to whom they give the power to regulate and from whom they can take this power. Above all, do not let them con you into the belief that there exists disembodied mystical forces like "the economy," "inflation," or "politics" that prevent them from doing what they take an oath to do. Those 545 people, and they alone, are responsible. They, and they alone, have the power. They, and they alone, should be held accountable by the people who are their bosses. Provided the voters have the gumption to manage their own employees... We should vote all of them out of office and clean up their mess! Charlie Reese is a former columnist of the Orlando Sentinel Newspaper. What you do with this article now that you have read it... is up to you. This might be funny if it weren't so true. Be sure to read all the way to the end: Tax his land, Tax his bed, Tax the table, At which he's fed. Tax his tractor, Tax his mule, Teach him taxes Are the rule. Tax his work, Tax his pay, He works for peanuts anyway! Tax his cow, Tax his goat, Tax his pants, Tax his coat. Tax his ties, Tax his shirt, Tax his work, Tax his dirt. Tax his tobacco, Tax his drink, Tax him if heTries to think. Tax his cigars, Tax his beers, If he cries Tax his tears. Tax his car, Tax his gas, Find other ways To tax his ass. Tax all he has Then let him know That you won't be done Till he has no dough. When he screams and hollers; Then tax him some more, Tax him till He's good and sore. Then tax his coffin, Tax his grave, Tax the sod in Which he's laid... Put these words Upon his tomb, Taxes drove me to my doom...'
